Congressman Presents Award

PACIFICA Postmaster Ken Strom, center, on Saturday received the "citation for excellence" by Congressman Paul N. "Pete" McCloskey, right. Assisting in the presentation was Russell James, director of the San Francisco Pacific Postal Region. The citation was for "excellence due to the orderly and efficient manner he has maintained the Pacifica post offices." The award was top in its field of the 1,365 post offices in the San Francisco District. (Post Photo)

Deborah Is Home From Philippines

Deborah "Debbie" Stevenson, who was either abducted by or eloped with her boyfriend in the Philippines, is home again.

"She's not as zany as she sounds," said her mother, Mrs. Mary Stevenson of South San Francisco, while awaiting the arrival of Debbie's plane Saturday night. "If the sisters at Maryknoll say she was dragged away, that's the way it happened."

According to authorities at the exclusive Maryknoll girls' college outside Manila, Debbie was taken at gunpoint Tuesday by Chris Lecaroz, 23, son of a politically prominent Filipino family.

However, Miss Stevenson returned to Manila from a provincial hideaway Friday and said she had eloped with Lecaroz and planned to marry him. She departed immediately for home.

She was greeted at San Francisco International Airport by her parents, two brothers, two sisters, her grandmother and several aunts, uncles and cousins. Her only comment was, "I am happy to see my family."

Mrs. Stevenson said she doubted her daughter would go back to the Philippines, where she has lived more than a year. She also said she didn't think Debbie would marry Lecaroz.

The co-ed's mother made up the elopement story "because it was the only expedient thing to do in order to get out of the Philippines."

Jefferson Elementary Negotiation Dispute

Arbitration Out, Greenwood Wants Court Settlement

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees, through their representative, Supt. Frank Greenwood, last week stated they want the court to settle a negotiation dispute they are having with the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association.

The unexpected decision caught representatives of the JCTA off balance. Only the night before they were led to believe the matter would be settled by arbitration, once the question of "what" should be arbitrated was settled.

Following a 50-minute executive session at last week's recessed meeting, Greenwood read a prepared statement (that took another 15 minutes to type up).

It instructed Greenwood to meet with the district attorney to "seek counsel and advice" regarding the filing of an action for "declaratory relief" against the JCTA Negotiating Council to honor its agreement of June 3, 1969.

According to the statement, this agreement of June 3 was a proposal that would have brought to a close the dispute.

"The proposal of the board was rejected, as were all subsequent overtures by the board to the negotiating council," said the statement.

In a hastily prepared statement, Joan Hemphill, president of the JCTA, said, "We are extremely disappointed that the board and its representative, Frank Greenwood, could not agree on their proposal to JCTA.

"We did accept their counter proposal, with one stipulation; that they have as their basic goal the settlement of the current salary dispute," said Mrs. Hemphill's statement. "We can only assume at this point that this is not the goal."

On Tuesday night Greenwood and Denis O'Leary, representing the teachers negotiating council agreed to get together to work out the question that would be put to arbitration.

During the day yesterday two letters exchanged hands. One was from Greenwood to Dick Meagles, chairman of the JCTA Negotiating Council.

He outlined the question he said he intended to submit to the board, adding that there was not concurrence, nor that as of 10:12 a.m. had he been able to contact a quorum of the board of the American Arbitration Association relative to its use as a conciliation agency.

His proposed question follows.

"What is the agreement that exists between the JCTA and the Board of Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary

Child's Death Not Murder, Jury Rules

Robert D. Nielson was released on bail last week after a Superior Court jury ruled that he was not guilty of murder in the July 1 killing of his wife's 3-year-old daughter in their San Bruno apartment.

The jury of eight men and four women did convict the 34-year-old airline employe of molesting the child, but found him guilty of involuntary manslaughter rather than murder.

Members of the jury said they did not believe that Nielson deliberately killed little Yvonne Christine (Chrissie) Santino in an effort to cover up the molestation, as the state had charged, but felt that death could have occurred inadvertently. One juror speculated that the baby might have suffocated when Nielson put a hand over her mouth to stifle her screams.

Nielson appeared to be shaken when he heard Court Clerk Jack Thomas read the verdict. Chrissie's mother, Paulette, 24, who married Nielson a week after the baby's death, sobbed audibly. She was seated in the gallery directly behind the defendant.

Judge Robert F. Kane scheduled sentencing for 9 a.m. February 11. The penalty for involuntary manslaughter is one to 15 years in state prison and for child molestation one year to life.

Deputy Dist. Atty. William Larsen said he will recommend to Judge Kane that consecutive

QUIET GARBAGE DUMP MOVE

Pacifica Seeking Canyon

By FRANK LaPIERRE
Post-Times Writer

Pacifica has launched a plan to fill the abandoned U.S. Army Nike site at Milagra Canyon with solid waste and is now orbiting a letter around the North County asking support for their proposed mission.

In a letter sent to at least four cities surrounding Pacifica late last year, City Manager C. W. Masonheimer explained the coastside city's dilemma in disposing of its mounting solid waste.

The so-called "Frontierland Park" dump site had been projected for a ten year site, but unusual growth in Pacifica sliced the life span of the site in half.

Pacifica's garbage plight is not unusual.

A number of Bay Area cities are experiencing the same frustrations—what to do with tomorrow's garbage.

Milagra canyon is partially owned by the government and moves have been made by Pacifica to woo the Army into selling the mountaintop complex of underground silos and caverns.

But it has been one of the quietest movements in history.

No one in city government wants to discuss the matter in public. Indeed, Masonheimer's letter is dated December 29, 1969, and only last night was introduced to the Daly City council at a study session.

A copy of the letter was not made available to the press because "it's from one city manager to another" and not for general release, a Daly City official explained.

Last month a similar experience was shared by newsmen attending a study session on the Milagra Canyon garbage dump plan in San Bruno.

Some officials have expressed the idea that such plans should be aired in public, while still others feel any "boat-rocking" at this point might be cause for apprehension on the part of federal authorities.

Daly City, San Bruno and South San Fancisco touch the Milagra Canyon area and the City of Pacifica requires their support before any moves are made to acquire land from the government.

Once filled, the Milagra Canyon site would be converted into a golf course or developed for recreational purposes, it is understood.

Milagra Canyon is located west of Skyline Boulevard and slightly north of Sharp Park Road in a remote (for the present) mountain area.

The effect of seepage to surrounding communities from the garbage dump has not been discussed in public.

Mayor, City Manager In Clash Over Authority

Staff Won't Take 'Abuse,' McKenzie Tells Bertucelli

By BOB PETERSON
Post-Times Writer

Bitter verbal exchanges flew freely last night at the South San Francisco city council meeting, nearly resulting in a showdown between City Mgr. Tom McKenzie and Mayor Frank Bertucelli.

If either were up for reelectiion it might be considered political namby-pamby. It went deeper than that.

McKenzie was attempting to define and exercise the boundaries of his authority. Bertucelli wanted McKenzie to understand that the mayor was the ultimate authority.

"We're (McKenzie and his staff) not going to sit here and take abuse from you or anyone else," said the city manager, referring to the mayor's caustic remarks of the city staff's efficiency, or lack of same.

His voice raising and cheeks reddening, McKenzie told the mayor that if he wanted to criticize either McKenzie or the city staff he should do it in the city manager's office, not in public.

"All right, we'll go into a personnel session right now," boomed Bertucelli. "Let's get this thing settled."

If cooler heads hadn't of prevailed they may have done just that. They still intend to meet, at 5 p.m. Wednesday in the mayor's office.

Interceding initially was City Attorney John Noonan. "It's late," he said. "Tempers are flaring. There has to to a cooler time for talking." One by one the councilmen agreed and soothed Bertucelli's ruffled feathers temporarily.

This challenge to the mayor by McKenzie was the second effort to silence Bertucelli's blasting of city staff efforts.

During the pre-council session, when contractor Arthur "Buzz" Haskins cried sour grapes concerning awarding of work (not to Haskins) of dredging of Colma Creek, Bertucelli sided with Haskins.

Louis Goss, director of the public works department, was put behind the eight ball, as he has been on numerous occasions when he has been unable to come up with an immediate statistic.

Goss explained thoroughly how he had hired J. R. Case Trucking, Inc., of Colma to do the work because they had made a better price. In many instances, it was cited, Goss has saved the city considerable amounts of money for this annual project. In this case, according to Noonan, there was a saving of approximately $2,000 over either an offer by Haskins or an offer by contractor Bob Fontana.

Filing Period

N. County Races Are Shaping Up

Municipal politics continues to shape up in northern San Mateo County, with the deadline for filing candidacy papers for city council elections in April still two weeks away.

In Daly City, South San Francisco, San Bruno and Pacifica, many induviduals have marked themselves as potential candidates by receiving papers from their respective city clerks. A few already have returned the papers.

The deadline for filing is noon on February 19. In summary, here's how the various contests appear to be shaping:

San Bruno—Two candidates have filed for the three open city council seats.

Incumbent Karney Barberian was the first to file. In addition to his seat, those of Mayor Neil Christal and Councilman George Ingham also are up for grabs.

Also filing for one of these council seats was Anthony (Tony) Governale, presently Park and Recreation Commission chairman.

Papers have been taken out by Mayor Christal, Councilman Ingham and Theodore H. Long, a member of the city's personnel board.

South San Francsico—Council aspirant Edward Toby is the only person to have filed to date. Others taking out papers are William Borba, Terry Mirri, Edward Rickenbacker, Gordon Boblett and Tony Montoya.

This impressive field will be vying for two seats, one of which will offer no incumbent competition as Councilman Andrew Rocca has stated that after 40 years of public service he is ready to call it quits. The other seat is presently filled by Councilman Patrick Ahern.

Daly City—Six persons have taken out nomination papers in a election to fill three seats—those of Mayor Bernard Lycett and Councilmen Edward Dennis and Michael DeBarnardi.

Dennis took himself out of the race early. The other incumbents, though not yet filing, are considered to be in it.

Those who have taken out nomination papers include Mrs. Maria Luna, William Schumacher, Louis Papan, David W. Cafferata, Marie G. Taylor and Frank Magnani.

Pacifica—Three seats are up for grabs and so far six persons have taken out the required nomination papers, with only Edwin Tisdale of 420 Norfolk, Apt. 19, a dry cleaner, having actually filed.

Others who have received papers are Gilbert Anda of 810 Dell Road, Kenneth Addelman of 955 Monte Verde, David Foster of 1201 Park Pacifica Avenue, Karen Pierce of 1284 Dammann and Karl Strutz of 344 Olympian Way.

In those seats now are Mayor Nick Gust, Harland Minshew and C. Rick Wallis.

$125,000 Slingshot Suit Filed

Back in biblical times the slingshot was the cheapest and deadliest weapon around—especially if you wanted to knock off a giant and impress your friends.

But times have changed and there aren't that many giants to slay anymore.

Matter-of-fact, Daly City has made it illegal nowadays for a minor to buy, sell or even possess a slingshot (section 16-8, city code).

In a effort to preserve what giants are left and to keep the dangerous weapons out of the hands of irresponsible kids, the city has made it illegal for stores to sell the slingshot sto minors.

The law was brought into focus Monday when attorney John T. Harmon filed a $125,000 suit against Glen C. Walker, a minor, in San Francisco Superior Court for allegedly damaging the left eye of ten-year-old Marc W. Brutschy with a slingshot last year.

In the suit, Harmon charged young Walker bought slingshots at two Serramonte Shopping Center stores and used them to inflict permanent injuries to Brutschy of 94 Portola Avenue, Daly City.

The suit asks damages from Walker, and the two Serramonte stores—Macy's and Jeffrey's Toys & Hobbies.

Ray Ottoboni Jr. A Colma Policeman, Edwin Kreinberg Replaces On Council

Colma has officially doubled its police force to keep pace with the increase in population and buildings that require protection.

Last week councilman Raymond J. Ottoboni was appointed to the police department, bringing the number of paid fulltime lawmen to two.

He immediately resigned from the council to assume his new duties.

Mayor Earl H. Taylor said the department needed to be beefed up to provide adequate protection to the buildings being constructed inside the Colma town limits.

In "off" hours the Broadmoor police department maintains security in the community of some 900 citizens.

Edwin Kreinberg was named to replace Ottoboni on the council whose term expires in 1972.

Previously the city was policed by Chief Dino Lagomarsino with the aid of Broadmoor police. However, with the construction of the new Cabot, Cabot & Forbes complex adjacent to the Junipero Serra Freeway the council feels additional police are needed.

Ottoboni had two more years on the council before his seat is up for re-election.

Two other council posts are up for grabs in the April election: Raymond D. Ottoboni Sr. and Mrs. Rena Vallerga.

pumped Goss for answers and reasons for his actions, McKenzie came to Goss' defense and said to the mayor, "This is not the place to criticize people. If you want to criticize, come into my office."

This pretty well set the stage, for another verbal encounter between the mayor and David Friedenberg, representing the Westborough Homeowners' Improvement Association.

The agenda item under discussion was the plan for Westborough Boulevard extension from El Camino Real to Junipero Serra Boulevard.

Under consideration was a pedestrian overpass at the end of the extension. Friedenberg said the council is selling the people concerned with child safety "a bill of goods" on the overpass. He explained how a similar suggested overpass on the existing Westborough Boulevard was scrapped. The homeowner representative was asking only that the council consider a study before they flatly decide to include the overpass.

"This move (to include the overpass without study) is strictly political," said Friendenberg. "Mayor Bertucelli is paying off a political promise." Friedenberg was referring to some 800 signatures handed the mayor as a show of interest in the overpass.

"What is the magic number?" asked Friedenberg. "I recall 600 signatures against a proposed gas station," a reference to the Westborough fight with Developer Tom Callan Jr., since dropped by the developer.

The mayor attempted to stifle Friedenberg by outshouting him. Then he acquiesced, coming back later to note that "Mr. Friedenberg mentioned political pay-off. He will hear from my attorney very soon. There are plenty of witnesses."

Councilmen finally agreed to a study by an expert. The city attorney then suggested a panel of experts, screened by the council.

"There has been plenty of grab and catch and political upmanship," said Noonan. "It has been a great show, and legitimate. However, I believe you should take with deep concern, the hiring of an expert."

McKenzie said he felt there was not a need for the panel, nor did he believe any traffic engineering consultant would take the time to appear on such a panel for such a small project.

"I disagree," said Noonan.

"I don't," replied McKenzie.

In jumped Bertucelli. Nodding to Noonan, he said, "You don't agree?" to which Noonan nodded in the affirmative.

When McKenzie attempted to clarify his stand, Bertucelli turned to him and said, "You make recommendations, right?" McKenzie said, "Right." The mayor then stated, "Okay, we'll make the decision."

Incidentally, the decision was to approve the construction on condition a modification be mae to include a piping rather than an open channel, and the stipulation that the overpass be included but can be deleted if further study proves it is not needed.

DC Father Investigates Son's Case

By BOB PETERSON

A Daly City father is taking on the traits of a pirvate investigator in an effort to obtain what he considers "proper justice" for his son's broken jaw.

John A. Solari, of 37 Canterbury Avenue, is checking every legal angle in connection with a January 16 altercation at South San Francisco High School.

Solari said his 17-year-old son Greg was the victim of an unprovoked assault at about 10:15 p.m., following a basketball game between South San Francisco and El Camino High School.

According to South San Francisco police detective Joe Simpson, the matter is still under investigation and any proceedings are still pending. He said any findings will be presented to the district attorney for possible prosecution.

In the incident, young Greg Solari received two fractures of the jaw. The broken bones are wired, as are his teeth. He will be eating through a straw for approximately six weeks.

Dr. Lawrence H. Foster, the attending physician, said his patient suffered loss of the right lower second molar tooth. However, the prognosis for a complete recovery is good.

Solari said that after the confrontation his son, not knowing he was badly hurt, didn't come home until shortly after midnight.

The youth then was taken immediately to Mary's Help Hospital where X-rays were taken, and three hours of surgery began at 8 a.m. on January 17.

In checking the incident, Simpson said "each person's friend backs up one another. That's why the impasse. The victim claims it was an unprovoked assault. The responsible said it was self-defense. There is an unavailability of any independent and unbiased witness."

The incident wasn't reported until 4 p.m. on January 17, according to Simpson. Solari said his first thoughts were for the well-being of his son.

Choirboy Tells Jury He Wants To Die

Choirboy Eric Eleson of San Mateo threatened suicide in court Thursday while the jury that had just convicted him of second-degree murder sat in stunned silence.

"God has said to me that my mission on earth has ended," the 19-year-old defendant said as tears welled in his eyes. "I am no longer alive and living."

When the verdict was read by Clerk Pauline Johnson the youth's mother, Mrs. Lois Eleson, who was seated in the first row of the gallery, buried her face in her hands and started to cry.

Then the defendant started his remarkable speech and the more he talked the more overwrought Mrs. Eleson became.

"Eric, please. Eric, please," she sobbed.

At one point Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley interrupted Eleson and urged him to "get to the point."

"The point is he's going to kill himself," Mrs. Eleson, whose emotions appeared to be nearly out of control, cried out.

Judge Hartley, after admonishing the defendant that suicide would be an un-Christian act, ordered him to be taken into custody for his own protection. Eleson refused to speak as he was being booked at County Jail. He was placed in a one-man cell near the front of the jail where jailers could keep a close watch on him.

Sentencing was scheduled for 10 a.m. February. The penalty for second-degree murder is five years to life in state prison.

Eleson shot Warren O'Brien, 49, to death last July 13 in the O'Brien home at 748 Larchmount Drive, in the Broadmoor tract near Daly City. The youth had been left in the home to baby-sit the two O'Brien children while their mother, Mrs. Virginia O'Brien, was at work. Before she left, Mrs. O'Brien instructed Eleson to not let her husband in the house if he should make an appearance. O'Brien did go to the house and entered and was shot during a struggle with the youth.

In the trial, which went for nine days before the jury of eight women and four men, Eleson contended that he was only defending himself against O'Brien, who had armed himself with a rifle during the fight. Deputy District Attorney Robert Bishop argued, however, that there was reason to believe that O'Brien was defending himself against Eleson.

Second-degree murder is defined as an unlawful killing with malice aforethought, but without premeditation.

Defense lawyer Robert Moran called the verdict "shocking," and indicated that an appeal would be filed. He said he suspected that members of the jury felt that there was a sexual relationship between Eleson and the 39-year-old Mrs. O'Brien.

"I'm afraid the jury made a morality trial out of this instead of sticking to the issues," Moran said after the court session.

When he was on the witness stand Eleson denied that there was any romantic relationship with Mrs. O'Brien. When he spoke in court yesterday he declared that "I do love Mrs. O'Brien and her children" but denied that he was the cause of the break-up of her marriage. After court the youth's mother explained to reporters that her son looked upon Mrs. O'Brien as a "second mother."

After the verdict was read Eleson received permission to address the court, although Judge Hartley said the request was extraordinary. The youth said his remarks were meant for everyone in the courtroom. He thanked the grim-faced jurors for their "patience and understanding," declared himself to be a Christian and asserted that "I always felt I did the right thing."

"I believe greatly in God," the defendant continued, "and wanted to become a minister.

"I cannot accept the verdict of guilty to any degree. I cannot live with myself under those conditions. I'm going to my Maker because I feel that's where he wants me to be."

Arbitration Is Out, Court Ruling Asked

School District as to the source of additional funds to be allocated over and above the first $150,000 by the Board of Trustees for salaries and or fringe benefits for both classified and certificated employes for the school year 1969-70, as per the package of agreements adopted by the board on June 3, 1969, as contracted to the memorandum and minutes of the March 5, 1969, negotiating council meeting?"

The second letter was from Meagles to Greenwood. It had two paragrahps.

"We will accept any arbitration, conciliation, mediation, or suggestions from a reputable third party which is designed to bring about a settlement of the current salary dispute, provided that such a third party has access to any and all communications between the board and teacher representatives; financial conditions of the district; and has as their basic goal the settlement of the current salary dispute."

In the second paragraph Meagles said the negotiating council would be "most happy" to accept the American Arbitration Association to settle the dispute, or "be happy" to accept the California Conciliation Service as suggested by Greenwood.

"Since the superintendent proposed the American Arbitration Association as a media to settle the dispute, and then withdrew this proposal, we must assume this offer was a bluff," said Mrs. Hemphill.

"As it happened, teachers want the dispute to be equitably settled. At this point we would question if the superintendent's actions are tactics to 'stall' with the aim of no additional money to teachers."

Greenwood remains steadfast in his contention that once the determination is made as to what the actual agreement was between the two parties, the problem of salaries bothering the teachers will be automatically settled, one way or the other.

He said the negotiating council's efforts are aimed at reopening negotiations, as indicative of the fact that every proposal he has made has been answered with a counter proposal.

"This case also may establish a precedent, and be a service to the state by pointing out weaknesses of the Winton Act (which established the negotiating council cancept) as it currently exists, said Greenwood.

Politics In Full Swing, First Sign Complaints In

Politicking is in full swing.

Already South San Francisco has been receiving complaints that signs of political candidates are appearing in places they are not authorized to be.

Specifically Mayor Frank Bertucelli said he had received reports that signs were being put on Pacific Gas and Eectric Company (PG&E) poles.

During the 4:30 p.m. pre-council session Monday he asked PG&E representative Doug Wigton whether PG&E had any policy concerning literature being hung from their poles.

Said Wigton, "It is prohibited from a safety standpoint." Asked what PG&E did about it, Wigton said, "We take them down."

Bertucelli then asked City Atty. John Noonan whether the city has any ordinance prohibiting posting of political literautre. Noonan said he would have to check the city's sign ordinance.

"If an ordinance is in effect," said Bertucelli, "let's enforce it."

Councilman Frank Mammini suggested to Wigton that maybe PG&E could write letters to all candidates to prevent further installation of the unwanted signs.

Bruno Lot Time Limit To Continue

The merchants on San Mateo Avenue in San Bruno voted to continue the present controversial parking time limit in downtown parking lots.

Meeting at Eureka Federal Savings and Loan, Josh Maule III moved that the two hour time limit in central business district parking lots remain enforced. The majority of the merchants division voted approval, with a commendation to San Bruno's newly hired parking control officer Charles F. Aubuchon for "doing his job effectively."

In other action, the group of San Mateo Avenue retail merchants voted to retain Jim Faverman of Key Pharmacy as president of the organization.

SSF Seeking Volunteers

South San Francisco councilmen have asked that residents interested in volunteering their services for the purpose of studying commercial rezoning possibilities in Westborough notify city hall.

The proposed 15-member committee was suggested by Westborough residents following their most recent battle with developer Tom Callan Jr. to prevent over-commercialization.

Councilmen at first talked of limiting the membership to residents of Westborough, since they are directly concerned with the rezoning. However, after further discussion it was determined that there was a need for impartiality. Therefore volunteers are being sought from throughout the city.

Pacifica Planners Delay Items

The Pacifica Planning Commission Monday put over action on two use permits, a section of the master plan and modifications to the subdivision section of the planning code until its next meeting.

The planners met in joint session with the City Council on the new ordinances adopting regulation of land and subdivision regulations item. The task mainly involved smoothing out technicalities on the thirty-plus page document, and was thus too lengthy to be adopted Monday.

The Hillside section of the 701 Master Plan, the only section of the plan yet to be adopted by the city, has not yet been redevloped by the Community Development Department, a spokesman said, and consequently its continuance.

Child's Death Not Murder, Jury Rules

sentences be imposed on the two counts.

"If there ever was a case that deserved a life sentence," Larsen said, "this was the one."

Judge Kane granted a motion by Defense Lawyer Harlan Veal to reduce bail from $25,000 to $2,500. Nielson was released from County Jail on the lower bail at 10:20 p.m., four hours after the verdict was read. He had been in custody since July 15.

Members of the jury said that the case, because of the nature of the evidence, was a difficult one for them.

The jury apparently accepted only part of the testmony of the expert witnesses called by both sides. Dr. Peter Benson, a county pathologist who testified for the state, said the child was molested and that the cause of death was drowning. A defense pathologist, Dr. Stuart Lindsay, told the jury, however, that there was no evidence of molestation. Furthermore, he said the cause of death was asphyxiation, not drowning.

In discussing the case after the verdict, jurors said they agreed that asphyxiation, rather than drowning, was the cause of death.

The state contended that Nielson deliberately drowned the child in the bathtub after raping her. Nielson testified that he had been left in care of Chrissie while her mother was at work. He denied that he had molested her in any way. He told the jury that he had placed her in the bathtub and then left the apartment for about 50 minutes to run some errands and do some shopping. When he returned, the defendant testified, he found the little girl face down in the tub, apparently dead. He tried to revive her, he said, and was giving her mouth to mouth resuscitation when firemen arrived.

Nielson said he lied to authorities at first about leaving the apartment because he was ashamed of the fact.

Food Complaints Aired At Meeting Of Jeff El. Board

By BOB PETERSON
Post-Times Writer

Remember young Harvey Haynes, the Benjamin Franklin School student from Daly City who protested the district's lunch program with a shriveled up tangerine the size of a ping-pong ball?

He was at last week's meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees. No. No. He didn't have a tangerine with him. This time it was a complete bag lunch.

Trustees last week again listened to several young students air their complaints about the quality and quantity of food.

Then they held in obeyance any action that would have raised the prices of the lunches by 10 cents.

The administration was recommending the increase in an effort to offset the accruing deficit in the school lunch program, estimated at $14,000 for last year.

Increases would be from 35 cents to 45 cents for student lunches, to 55 cents for adults, without milk, and 65 cents with milk. The price change was scheduled to become effective February 1.

"At this time it is still not possible to give larger portions to the seventh and eight grade students," said an administration report. "It would appear that possibly an additioal five cents will be needed. Then it would be possible to give larger portions."

"We don't want to pay for a lunch that doesn't improve," said young Haynes, as he handed yesterday's lunch to Board Chairman Joe Lewkowitz.

"What's this?" asked Lewkowitz.

"Cheeze whiz," replied Haynes.

"Looks kinda mushy," said the board chairman.

"Would you like to pay 35 cents for this? asked the young student.

"It all depends on how hungry you are," replied Lewkowitz.

The board chairman, in defense of the lunch program, added that he thought the food does have quality.

"You (children) are used to mother's home-cooking," he said. "The fault is not that of the cafeteria. The fault is in your taste. This food has quality because it has to according to government law and regulations."

One young lady stood up and said she would rather pay for one hot dog from a vending machine than pay 70 cents for a double meal, only to eat that half which she liked.

The issue of a boycott also was brought up by the students. "Last year a boycott proved successful in that the food improved," said one lad. He added that after the boycott stopped the food quality again went down. But he, and others, indicated they would seriously consider a boycott if quality didn't improve.

According to Supt. Frank Greenwood if the lunch program is to continue to operate it must either be further subsidized, or have the prices increased. If neither of these things are done, the district will continue to lose money.

"I don't concur with the lack of quality," said Greenwood. "However, I do concur with lack of quantity."

New College Accredited For 3 Years

San Mateo Junior College Distirct's two newest colleges — Canada in Redwood City and Skyline in San Bruno — start spring semester today each with top recognition of their development.

Canada College President William Goss received word Friday that his college, now in its second year, is a fully accredited junior college. Skyline President Philip Garlington was notified that his college, only one semester old, has been formally admitted to candidacy for accreditation.

Both announcements came from Dr. Henry Tyler, executive secretary of the Accrediting Commission for Junior Colleges of the Western Association of Schools and Colleges.

In both cases, the achievements were the result of evaluating team visits to the campuses during the fall semester.

Clifford G. Erickson, chancellor of the San Mateo Junior College District, said, "This is very happy news for all o fus and for all the residents of the district.

"It means that Canada College, in only its second year of operation, has achieved the degree of excellence required for maximum initial accreditation and that Skyline College, midway in its first year, already is worthy of recognition as a candidate for accreditation."

Census Chief Is Announced

Appointment of Mrs. Florence Galyean of South San Francisco, California, as District Manager of the 1970 Census of Population and Housing in this area was announced today by Director Richard J. Mullikin of the Census Bureau's Area Office in San Francisco.

On January 19th, following several days of intensive training in the Area Office, Mrs. Galyean came on duty and began setting up the District Office.

From the District Office located at 710 South "B" Street in San Mateo, Mrs. Galyean will supervise all phases of the census in the northern and eastern portion of San Mateo County.

LT. KLEMME

S.S.F. Police Lieutenant To Novato Post

South San Francisco Police Department's Commander of Criminal Investigation, Lt. Allen V. Klemme, has resigned to become Chief of Police at Novato.

The resignation is effective as of March 1.

Klemme, who has nearly 20 years of service with the South San Francisco department, said he has the normal apprehensions, however, he is "looking forward" to the new challenges.

Born and raised in Honolulu, Klemme moved to South San Francisco in 1947, and as he says, "has been here ever since."

He began police work with three months of service on San Bruno's department. Then, in August of 1951, he joined the South San Francisco force. With the exception of the years 1952 through 1954, when he was with the Provost Marshal of the U.S. Army, he has been at South San Francisco.

"Novato is a top notch department," said Klemme. "But then so is this (South San Francisco) one. I've been very fortunate to have been able to have served under such great leadership as Chief John Fabbri (who resigned last October to become Fremont's new chief) and now Acting-Chief August Terrango."

Klemme, incidentally, was one of 11 men who took a written exam Wednesday to fill the South San Francisco's chief position. Of those 11, eight were South San Francisco Police Department officers. Also, of the 11 taking the exam, eight men remained in contention, scheduled to take the oral exam February 11.

Ironically, on the night before Klemme took the written exam, his Novato position was confirmed. Said one of the Novato councilmen, the only dissenter on Klemme:

"It is an injustice to the men in the (Novato) department who are looking for advancement to go outside to select a police chief . . ."

That statement has a familiar ring to it. South San Francisco police, and many residents, were up in arms when their councilmen voted to include outside applicants for the position of South San Francisco's Police Chief.

Another item that might be considered a little bit of irony is the fact that San Bruno's new police captain, William Cann, is a former police sergeant from Novato. "Consider it a simple one man trade between the two counties," said Klemme.

Automobile Hits, Hurts San Brunan

A 22-year-old San Bruno man suffered possible head injuries Thursday when he was struck by a car while crossing San Mateo Avenue at Angus Avenue.

Filberto Rodriguez, of 494 Angus Avenue, is under intensive care at Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame.

Police said Rodriguez was struck by a car driven by George F. Jones, 39, of 465 Beech Avenue, San Bruno, at about 7:40 p.m.

According to the police report, Jones' vehicle was traveling south on San Mateo Avenue at approximately 25 miles an hour. It struck Rodriguez as he was halfway across the intersection,

He will be followed by John Bentley of Terra Nova High School who will lead the band in a Chorale and a symphonic arrangement of America the Beautiful.

MRS. MARIA LUNA was the first person to take out nomination papers for the upcoming April City Council race at the Daly City City Clerk's Office Thursday morning. Second in line was William J. Schumacher, a lo-

Most S.S.F. False Alarms Are Pulled By Young Children

Most of South San Francisco's 256 false alarms were pulled by children between the ages of six and 15 years, Fire Chief John Marchi pointed out today while advocating full enforcement of laws that don't "give a little slap on the wrist."

Marchi, instituting what he admitted to be a "get-tough" policy, is using to its fullest extent an orinance that calls for a minimum of $100 fine to the parents of children caught pulling false alarms.

It's not just a matter of the law being on the books.

Marchi explained that false alarms are not only causing South San Francisco's taxpayers "great expense," they also — "and more important" — are "robbing the city of fire protection."

The chief emphasized that "this loss . . . is just too great to just give a little slap on the wrist and say, 'Please don't do it again.' "

He hopes that when the law is utilized and the parents are directed to pay the minimum fine, "Maybe some of these parents will watch their children a little closer."

Already many fines have been collected, Marchi said.

He cited the instance of one youngster — a 14-year-old, who was the latest to be caught pulling a false alarm.

The parents "have been very cooperative in insisting" the youth be "made to pay so much a month from his paper route in order to learn a lesson."

Additionally, the youngster has gone to the fire station, working on different details, each Saturday and Sunday. He was to report four weekends, Marchi said.

Seamanship Class Slated

Sessions will last from 7:30 to approximately 9:30 p.m.

Highlights of the lessons will be boat handling, weather, tying knots and splices, aids in navigation, piloting, use of charts and compass, first aid, safety requirements and legal requirements.

Will Slocum Declares For Nomination

Asserting that 20,000 young American servicemen have been killed in Vietnam "since San Mateo County sent a dove to Congress," Will Slocum of San Bruno announced last weekend he will seek the Democratic Party nomination for the Eleventh District Congressional seat.

He promised an "enlightened, constructive and peaceful alternative to the re-election of the incumbent Republican Congressman," calling himself the "peace right now" candidate.

Slocum, who once was quoted as saying the way to end the Vietnam war was to surrender, said that he would solicit the support "of all those who truly believe that enough is enough."

He promised to come up with a "proposal a week until the primary election," a 13-point "domestic, humanitarian oriented program."

A New Act: Politicians Are 'Dancing In Anger'

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The new "Declaration Act" is not a vaudeville team but it already has politicians and others closely associated with city, county and state government dancing with anger.

The new legislation orders public servants to open their financial books to public scrutiny in a drive aimed at assuring an increasingly skeptical citizenry of their representatives' honesty in government.

In the northern California city of Chico two weeks ago, four councilmen quit their posts because of the Act and others are expected to follow this example.

Observers view the addition to the State Government Code with alarm and disgust and many claim this piece of legislation alone will prevent many from entering any political race.

It's not that they fear their conduct has been other than beyond reproach, rather their entire financial holdings — and those of close relatives — will come under public scrutiny, thereby making all involved targets for possible kidnappers, manipulators and Who-knows what else?

Regardless of this barrage of opposition from public officers, or prospective public servants, each and every candidate will be handed a copy of the Code dealing with "conflicts of interest" when they take out their nomination papers at city halls throughout the County Thursday.

Chapters Two and Three are particularly unpalatable to those concerned. They deal with the disclosure of financial interests and campaign contributions.

Within ten days after a candidate takes out his papers he (or she) must file a statement describing the nature and extent of his investments "including the ownership of shares in any corporation or the ownership of a financial interest in any business entity" that is in excess of $10,000 for each holding.

Efforts are now underway to tighten this statement even further and have the candidate list his debts exceeding a specified amount, however that amendment has not been passed as yet.

Other public officers must file similar statements prior to April 15 of every year.

Failure to comply with the new law could result in being hit with a misdemeanor or, in some cases, a felony.

Places to file the statements depend on the posts held or being sought by the person.

A breakdown of this accompanies each official filing form being handed out during the upcoming April elections.

Procedure for distributing the Act to other public servants has not been decided upon in most areas and is expected to come later.

Under paragraph three (political contributions) each candidate for political office must submit the names of each person or organization that donates $500 or more to his campaign.

And the term "Contribution" covers a wide spectrum of "gifts."

Dragnet Out For Suspect In Abduction

An all-points bulletin has been issued for the arrest of David Joseph Carpenter, 39, suspect in the attempted kidnap of a pretty brunette housewife in Daly City Thursday.

Carpenter is armed with a 16 guage shotgun and two butcher knives and is considered "extremely dangerous" police said..

He is presently on Federal parole from prison where he was convicted of forcible rape and attempted murder of a police officer.

Mrs. Gerald O'Donnell, wife of a former Daly City police officer, was walking to her car parked in the street level garage of an apartment building at 355 Park Plaza Drive Thursday morning when a man armed with a shotgun accosted her.

The gunman pushed Mrs. O'Donnell into a car stolen Wednesday in Santa Cruz and was tying her arms with a plastic rope when a maintenance man entered the garage.

Mrs. O'Donnell managed to escape her would-be abductor and run screaming into the Doelger Corporation offices next to the garage, where employees rushed to her aid.

When police units arrived on the scene the suspect had fled in the O'Donnell car, leaving behind the car stolen in Santa Cruz.

A Pacifica Thief With Conscience

Pacifica firemen have found a thief with somewhat of a conscience.

It all started Thursday morning when headquarters station firemen zoomed up to the Pacific Highlands region (Westview) to extinguish a blaze that had started in greasewood.

While the firemen fought the brush fire, someone sneaked into the fire chief's sedan and carted away a $700 portable, short-wave radio.

Both firemen and policemen spent considerable time after that talking with youngsters, seeking to find a suspect.

But, it was in vain, and all hands returned to their stations, minus a radio that works only on the fire department frequency.

Some time during the day, a fire department spokesman figured, the thief, thought to be "an older teen" had second thoughts about his deed and about 6 p.m. central station got a radio call.

It was from a boy who wanted the firemen to know that he had their radio, and would return it if they didn't call the police.

Much "negotiation" (not really; the firemen didn't compromise on a thing) ensued, and the lad agreed to leave the radio at a specified location in Pacific Highlands.

Just before fire officials headed up the hill to retrieve their radio, they got another call — about the fourth one — from the youth, who reiterated he "was sorry" he'd taken the radio.

True to his word, he had left the radio where he said he would, and firemen picked it up shortly before 7 p.m.

Shotgun Thrown At D.C. Officer

A 21-year-old Daly City man, who allegedly had been blasting away at parked cars on his street from the balcony of his home Friday, chose to throw, instead of discharge, his 12-gauge shotgun at a policeman who had confronted him at gunpoint.

The man taken into custody then by Patrolman James Mendiara was Phinoy Broughton, of 432 Santa Barbara Avenue, according to a spokesman for the Daly City Police Department.

Broughton was charged with discharging a firearm within the city limits and for malicious mischief, police said, after the 11:20 p.m. incident.

Patrolman Mendiara's report showed he had been dispatched to Broughton's address to investigate complaints of a man shooting from a residence.

As he arrived, Mendiara spotted Broughton running out of the carport area carrying the shotgun.

Mendiara challenged the running man, ordering him to stop and drop the weapon, but Broughton went to a truck parked directly in front of the building, lifted the hood, began beating out the windows, then knocking parts from the engine.

The patrolman stated that he again directed the man to drop the shotgun.

Suddenly, Mendiara declared, Broughton "muttered" something toward the patrolman and threw his weapon in Mendiara's direction.

Mendiara immediately ran to Broughton and held him until another patrolman, Bob Vogt, could assist.

Broughton's wife told authorities he came home shortly before 11 p.m., grabbed and loaded his shotgun, then went to the balcony of the apartment and started shooting, without explanation.

Police said he shot "numerous times" at vehicles, but apparently caused damage to only the one he pounded on.

Bruno Police Arrest Youth On 3 Counts

San Bruno police have arrested a 15-year-old Oceana High School student in connection with a January 22 robbery, and two recent burglaries.

Mori James Benveiste, of 235 Merced Drive, San Bruno, was booked for the armed robbery of Pacific Market, 1900 Monterey Boulevard, San Bruno, and for two burglaries of the Portola Highlands Elementary School.

He has been turned over to the authorities at the Hillcrest Youth Guidance Center.

Following several tips, police confronted the youth at his home, in the presence of his father, to make the arrest at about 7 p.m. Wednesday.

During the January 22 robbery, a suspect walked into the nearly empty store, stuck a weapon, identified as a 45 caliber, into the back of the assistant manager. He then grabbed an estimated $96 from the cash register and fled out the back fire exit.

According to the police report, Benveniste said he was a "lookout" man and was given $22 for his part in the holdup.

Youth Club Is Planned

Youth club, a regular weekday Christian education program for young people of school age, will begin on Thursday, February 5, at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, San Bruno.

Sessions will be held every Thursday from 4 to 7:30 p.m. and each will include a Bible study hour, a choir hour, dinner, and a recreation period.

Under the direction of Rev. John L. Powell and Rev. A. D. Caron, the church will use curriculum materials developed by Youth Club Program, Inc., an association of over 500 churches throughout the country now sponsoring similar programs.

Over a period of 14 years Youth club has proven to be an effective tool in linking the home and church together successfully in the Christian community.

D.C. Director Resigns Post

Robert Hossli, Daly City's Finance Director for the past three years, resigned his $14,040 post Wednesday, effective February 28.

Hossli cited "family illness" as the reason for his leaving the ity.

The resingation came as a complete surprise to city officials.

"It came as just as much a surprise to me," Hossli said today.

He is expected to return to Santa Maria in Southern California to assume the duties of Director of Finance there.

Hossli left the same job in November, 1967 to come to Daly City and take over the Finance Department.

One of Hossli's three children has acute asthma and Hossli said the change may be beneficial to the child's health.

A Mobile Book Store In S.S.F.

The "bookmoble" will serve the entire Peninsula from the Brentwood location Friday only, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Rev. Donald Sturgeon Heads D.C. Ministerial Association

The Rev. Donald C. Sturgeon, of the Westlake Community Baptist Church, has been elected president of the Daly City Ministerial Association for 1970.

The new president succeeds the Rev. Thomas Unmacht who has headed the group for the past two years. During this time a new ecumenical spirit has been born among the churches.

The most significant accomplishment was the establishment of a joint church youth group. Rather than having several small individual groups the churches have combined forces to sponsor a larger and more effective program.

The Ministerial Association has sought to de-emphasize the traditional signs of unity which are often more symbolic than real. Instead the members are seeking to take united action on problems in the community which are of concern to the church.

The Rev. Mr. Sturgeon said that in the coming year the ministers will be: Working to further develop the youth activities, giving serious consideration to the development of a church information service, and conducting a series of studies to determine what the problems and issues of the community are.

The Ministerial Association is composed of clergymen from six faiths. These include: Roman Catholic, Jewish, Presbyterian, Methodist, American Lutheran, and American Baptist.

Marshall Kuhn To Be B'nai Israel Speaker

Sabbath Services will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel on Friday, beginning at 8:30 p.m., conducted by Rabbi Solomon A. Shore and Cantor Henry Greenberg.

Marshall H. Kuhn, a member of the Board of Directors of the Jewish Welfare Federation, will be guest speaker, on behalf of the Federation's 1970 campaign.

Kuhn is currently chairman of the Committee on College Youth, has served as chairman of the Federation's Social Planning Committee, co-chairman of various campaigns and is a chairman of a number of conferences concerned with Jewish youth.

Westsiders Plan To Attend Sunday School Convention

The Northern California Sunday School Convention will be conducted at the newly constructed Cathedral of Tomorrow, in Castro Valley, Feb. 5-7, and Sunday school teachers, and youth workers from Westside Baptist of Pacifica will attend at some of the sessions.

February 7 is work day again at the new church buildings of Westside Baptist Church, 390 Inverness Drive, Pacifica.

Sunday school will convene at 9:45 a.m. Sunday at Westside, with 14 age-graded, Bible-centered classes.

"Triuphant Behaviour" is the sermon topic for the 11 a.m. worship hour message. Special music for this service will be a mixed quartet. Mrs. Hazel Leong will be at the console of the Baldwin organ.

During the adult worship service, a primary church service is held for boys and girls, four through seven years of age, with Mrs. Jean Hernandez in charge. A Nursery is also maintained during this service.

"Satisfaction Guaranteed" is the topic for the 7 p.m. Family Fellowship Gospel Hour.

Terra-Nova Topics

By ANNE DRYDEN

Students returned from their semester break Monday with new hopes and promises for the spring semester.

"I'm not going to get a single cut this semester," vows one sophomore boy.

"For once in my life I'm going to try for straight A's," insists a senior girl.

For the seniors, the spring semester will provide a last chance for all the good grades and fun times they might have missed in their three and a half years of high school.

Twenty nine seniors chose to graduate mid-term, leaving their high school memories behind. Marriage, jobs, or college will now fill the hours they formerly spent at Terra Nova.

Vickie Rainsford, a Terra Nova senior, has been selected to be a member of the International Cheerleading Foundation's summer workshops. Vickie will join their staff of "All Star Pepsters" instructors and will participate in workshops which will include eight events from South Dakota to UCLA. She plans to arrive in Kansas City on June 15, 1970 and later that week leave for her first workshop at South Dakota State University in Brookings.

Vickie has been active on the Terra Nova Spirit Staff for two years and is currently head cheerleader.

Miss Howard Is Student President At Washington

Student body officers for George Washington School in Daly City were decided in an election January 23, with Sherry Howard, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Ray Howard, President.

Vice president is Jan Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brown; secretary, Dorothy Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Dean, Jr.; treasurer, Caroline Lewis, daughter of Mrs. Beulah Plummer.

Candidates were introduced to each classroom by Gerald Stahlman, a member of the Student Council. Candidates presented their speeches before each class group. Campaign signs had appeared throughout the school for one week prior to the election.

Eligibility for nomination required a candidate be a member of the Student Council, maintain a "B" scholastic average, and exemplify good citizenship.

Other candidates included Neva Amituanai for president, Belinda Love and Prisco Capangpagnan for vice president, Jesse Medina, Cedric Hughes, and Andrea Incrocci for secretary, Anthony Wesley and Donna Roylance for treasurer.

The election was supervised by principal Dennis Huajardo, and student council advisors Mrs. Dana Newman and Mrs. Jane Bressler.

Camp Fire Unit Earns Portions Of New Rank

The Ko-Ki-Ta-Wan-Ka Camp Fire group, under the leadership of Mrs. Albert Fluehr, guardian, and Mrs. Richard Freund, assistant guardian, earned two parts of their Woodgathers Rank by participating in an International Tea with five other fifth grade Camp Fire groups January 30, at Cabrillo School in Pacifica.

Each group chose a different country to represent and to learn about, and the Ko-Ki-Ta-Wan-Ka girls decided to represent Spain.

Dennis Sawyer, a fifth grade teacher at FDR School in Dal City, helped prepare the girls by attending one of the meetings and recounting what he had learned on a trip to Spain during the summer.

The girls had a display table set up at the tea showing somethings that were representitive of Spain. One of the main attractions was a collection of Spanish dolls from 10 different parts of Spain that was graciously loaned to the Camp Fire girls by Mrs. John Burgoa, a second grade teacher at FDR. Spanish scarves, fans, and posters depicting life in Spain were also shown

The Ko-Ki-Ta-Wan-Ka girls wore costumes to sing and dance a Spanish children's game, Mata Rillay Rillay Ray. They explained to the guests a little about Spain and her culture. For refreshments they chose to serve a large fried cookie as they discovered most desserts in Spain are of the fried variety.

(Post Photo)

Peninsulans in Fight to Save Non-Tuition Concept

North San Mateo County parents, teachers, students, and alumni are fighting to uphold a 75-year tradition of "non tuition" at Lick Wilderming School, San Francisco which is privately endowed.

The 75 year old school provides privileged education for 270 students from schools throughout the Bay Area, and 10 percent are members of minority races.

Students must pass stiff entrance exams to enter the school.

It is designed to offer top quality high school education for those who qualify academically, regardless of race, creed or economic background, according to Daly City residents assisting in the campaign.

The school's board of trustees recently announced that tuition is necessary because of increasing operating costs, and that tuition would be imposed next fall unelss somebody could come up with $50,000 by February 15, in which case tuition would be postponed for one year. The trustees said tuition would be $500 per student per year.

Friends of Lick Wilmerding, a group of parents, teachers, students and alumni was formed to raise the needed amount. Dr. Sanford A. Marcus, Daly City, is president; Stephen Adams, recording secretary; Theodore T. Blumberg, Hillsborough, treasurer, and Mrs. Murray H. Freedman, Daly City, corresponding secretary.

The group with help of Lick Wilmerding supporters has raised $35,000 to date.

"The parents are determined to keep this a non-tuition school where the only criterion for admission is excellence," said Dr. Marcus, "and they are working hard to raise the $15,000.00 balance."

They were dressed alike in A-line pomegranate gowns of saki cloth styled with Mandarin collars and short, puffy sleeves. They added matching headpieces of loops with tiered veils and carried two shades of pink roses.

THE MARQUEE

Cynics who sigh they don't make movies like they used to are reflecting retrospectively on a romantic time in their life. I said the same thing when informed I'd be reviewing a lovely old French favorite, "La Ronde," now through Saturday at the Surf Theater.

The charm of that softly photographed classic by Max Ophuls which was a 'cause celebre' in its day becomes academic, like the remembered thrill of clandestine meetings with a former lover or a faded valentine. Time is never kind to old loves and the vapid plot that satirically exposes a continuous round of amours loses its bite over the 20-year escalation of sexualty on the screen.

Anton Walbrook grinds the calliopy of a wierdly tilted carousel while he unfolds the private pleasures of ten people in search of adventure. He then appears in their lives, like a continuous image of decadence passing glib, sarcastic comments on the success or failure of their conquests. And into his somewhat surrealistic maze of Viennese sensuality cross many of the greats of French cinema: Danielle Darrieux, Simone Signoret, Simone Simon, Gerard Philipe, Jean-Louis Barrault and others.

IN THE OPULENT ARRAY OF FAMOUS FACES and glittering salons is an undertone of seduction that is mannered and coy. The sex act is discreetly blacked out and each episode ends with one or both of the partners fully clothed, perfectly coiffed and impeccably put together. That might have been droll in its time but it makes for dull viewing these days when everything short of "101 Dalmatians" features nudity and long-range photography into private places.

Cinematically, Ophuls is a master of camera artistry. His feeling for light and imagery, the fantasy aura of the dream-like sequences and the formal elegance of turn of the century Vienna make for visual interest.

The film version of Arthur Schnitzler's play, "Reigen" is too superficial and passive for today's tastes. It remains there Saturday as part of a French classics series.

Lutherans Plan Rummage Sale To Assist Rally

The Lutheran Laymen's League will sponsor a rummage sale on February 6 at Forest Lodge, 266 Laguna Honda Boulevard, opposite the Laguna Honda Hospital.

The LLL has enlisted the aid of all ten Missouri Synod Lutheran Church congregations in the area in contributing articles to sell and in securing individuals to help conduct the sale.

Bethel Lutheran members may contact Emer Ohlendorf, who will be assisted by Bill Brown of Colma and John Walker of Daly City for information.

Contributions of clothing, furniture, books and other items will be picked up by LLL trucks if residents cannot take them. For pickup, phone Oswald Holtzen in San Francisco.

Mammini Asks:

'How Interested' Are The Others In Noise Fight?

According to South San Francisco Councilman Frank Mammini, "the question now is how interested are the Board of Supervisors in helping on the environmental problem (airplane noise pollution) which affects the whole of San Mateo County.

"The San Francisco Board of Supervisors apparently are not interested," said Mammini.

These remarks are contained in a prepared statement.

It is a rebuttle to a story published last week in The Times in which "a well informed source" at San Francisco Airport took exception to the fact they were criticized by Mammini for not showing interest in an anti-airplane noise meeting in South San Francisco.

"Recently published excuses stemming from people, both in and out of San Mateo County, listing reasonh why they failed to attend the public meeting on noise pollution, as related to the San Francisco Airport, carries a slight tinge of weakness," said Mammini's statement.

He went on to say that invitations were sent to officials on all levels of government and to industry representatives some three weeks prior to the hearing. "Newspapers carried advance stories at basically the same time," said Mammini.

The councilman feels that the three weeks was ample time for federal and state officials to either personally send a representative to the meeting, or at least send a letter back acknowledging their awareness of the problem.

Mammini pointed out that some officials did respond to the invitation. These included U.S. Senator George Murphy, Congressmen Paul N. (Pete McCloskey, William Mailliard, George Moscone and John Burton, State Senator Richard Dolwig and Assemblyman Leo Ryan. All, incidentally, are located outside the immediate area.

The councilman said "indications from the (San Mateo) Board of Supervisors were that their notice somehow went astray, and verified by a letter from the board's secretary."

Mammini said one San Francisco supervisor did indicate an interest, but could not attend because of a prior commitment.

"Last week, in a television newscast, (San Francisco's) Mayor (Joseph) Alioto indicated there would be environmental changes for San Francisco in the coming year," said Mammini. "I say, what of South San Francisco? They have created our problem but show little or no interest in solving it."

Concerning Mammini's lack of attendance at the Sound Abatement Center meetings, the councilman made this reply.

"In the past, I have attended their meetings. But I came to the realization that the Sound Abatement Center was nothing more than a public relations organization for the airport and its oriented industries.

"Yes, we are still getting the same answer,' said Mammini, " 'there isn't a thing we can do about the noise.' I would hate to think that the medical profession would take this attitude. We could all be dead if they did."

The earlier Times story giving the reasons for not attending the meeting also included this interesting tidbit.

"As it was, even if other means of conttact had been used, no one at the airport, or in either county government, was overly willing to attend a meeting with obviously anti-noise leanings."

Colma Youth Is Arrested

A Colma youth was arrested at his home January 27 and charged with burglary after he was allegedly recognized forcing his way into a Daly City home.

Gary Haynes, 19, of D Street, Colma, was booked into city jail and later released on $550 bail for allegedly burglarizing the residence of Lillian Smith at 109 Westlake Avenue.

According to the victim, personal items and men's clothing was stolen during the burglary.

Entry to the home was made by prying open a garage door.

S. S. F. Students Hold Fund Raisers

Los Cerritos fifth grade students of South San Francisco have recently held a series of various fund raising activities including a Christmas Tree sale, purchasing of tickets for the motorcycle races as a prelude towards financing a planned Easter or early summer trip to the nation's capitol, according to Instructor Bob Bellino.

The financial goal for the 22 students, including two sets of twins, and their tireless teacher is $6,000. The "Back East" preliminary itinerary includes Valley Forge, Independence Hall and the Liberty Bell.

Bellino intends to hold classes and take side trips enroute to Washington, D.C. When they arrive in New York, the sightseeing agenda includes the United Nations, Harbor Tour, Empire State Building, Statue of Liberty, Garment District, the George Washington Bridge and Coney Island.

Tongue in cheek, Bellino disclosed that an important stopover in Elizabeth, New Jersey, will be viewing of the birthplace of Robert C. Bellino. Spirito's Pizza Parlor will be the luncheon site.

In Philadelphia the visiting students will stay in the school cafeteria. In Bethesda, Md., students who have been corresponding with the SSF fifth graders will serve as hosts.

During a field trip to the Capitol Building and a tour of the House and Senate, the boys and girls will view the Supreme Court, the Library of Congress and meet congressmen.

In the evenings, students will make entries in their individual diaries and logs and write letters home. They will also tour the National Archives, FBI, Arlington National Cemetery, the Immaculate Conception Shrine, Bureau of Engraving, Smithsonian Institution and the Washington Cathedral.

Class work will continue throughout the trip. Students will observe, examine, collect and label types of rocks, trees, plant life and mark their route, state by state. They will note highway signs and markers, each town and its population and elevation. They will also keep track of mileage, observing and discussing natural resources as well as the jobs, and the type of people, dress, etc. Places with certain names and types of names will also be discussed.

Side trips will cover Salt Lake City, cattle and hay ranches in Atkinson, Nebraska, corn and livestock farms in Iowa, stock yards, Great Lakes and grain elevators in Chicago.

Jefferson Elementary Reports Racial Balance

There is, "for all intents and purposes," racial balance in the Daly City Jefferson Elementary School District.

This is according to a letter from Supt. Frank Greenwood to the State Department of Public Instruction, Bureau of Intergroup Relations.

The letter was in answer to the state's request of the district to show its intent to eliminate racial imbalance in schools.

According to Greenwood's letter, there are three schools in the district out of balance as far as the Negro population is concerned and one school as far as the Mexican-American population is concerned.

The imbalance, however is very minimal. The Crocker School has two more Negro children than meets the state's definition of racial balance; George Washington School has four too many Negro children; and the Woodrow Wilson School has one too many Negro youths.

For the Mexican-American breakdown, the George ashington School has three more Mexican-American children than meets the state's requirements.

"I do not believe that it would be possible to get any closer to the intent and purpose of the law than has been achieved here in this district," said Greenwood in his letter.

"We are, at the present time, doing a complete survey of school facilities and attendance areas to see if more natural boundaries can be made to insure a continuation of what has already been accomplished."

Teens Form Committee

At a meeting held recently in the newly completed Youth Center, a standing committee of officers of the Skyline Teen Center was established. The temporary committee was set up to organize and finalize plans for the opening and running of the center. Several things, it was discussed, are needed before the center can be opened. Such things as ping pong and pool tables, a telephone and vending machines were suggested and are being looked into by both the young people and the city. As of yet, no opening date has been set.

The officers are: Crafts, Heidi Hills; equipment and building, Linda Joshua; scavenger, Rod Mrany; community service, Tina Turner; social, Marlene Strong; special projects, Mike Furnanz; temporary employment, Angela Smith; publicity, Jan Dalton; tutoring, Mollie Whisler finance director, Mike Martinez; secretary, Marret Thomsen, and co-ordinator, Mike Sharkey.

Pacifican Is Wounded

Lance Cpl. Bill Hooper of Pacifica is in a military hospital in Japan after beng wounded in Vietnam for the second time this month.

His father, William Hooper of 260 Lauren in Pacifica, said the Marine was expected to return to the United States in about three weeks.

Hooper was most recently injured on January 17, his father disclosed. His unit was on a detail to locate unexpended bombs, and after the Americans had passed through an area, the Viet Cong moved in quickly and setup booby traps.

Hooper, rifleman with the Fifth Marines and a Terra Nova High graduate of 1964, suffered leg wounds when one of the booby traps was triggered on the unit's return trip.

He had been back with his unit only since January 12, after treatment for injuries received when a truck ran over a landmine on January 6.

Hooper was knocked out and hit by shrapnel from the mine, his father said.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD ★ JOHNSON

Holiday Inn's Benny Gonzales Well Travelled

Benny Gonzales, evening maitre d' at the Holiday Inn in South San Francisco, is a well-known figure throughout California. He was formerly head maitre d' at Frank Sinatra's Jilly's restaurant in Palm Springs and the Savoy in New York City. Benny, with his debonaire manner and delightful Cuban accent, greets and seats the flow of patrons who enjoy the personal service and extra size portions in the Royal Hall dining room . . . The Syndicate of Sound, whose new hit disk is being released this week on Buddah, will move from The Old Library in San Francisco to the King's Table in Redwood City (both are under the same management) on Saturday night, February 7. Their new 45, first since their million-disk seller "Little Girl," is entitled "Brown Paper Bag" with "Reverb Beat" on the reverse. The King's Table will offer the disk at only a quarter at the supper club as an opening night promotion. The restaurant serves Smorgasbord dinners at $1.95, with no cover, no minimum. . . .

Frank Sinatra

☆ ☆ ☆

Luncheons as well as dinners and banquets are pulling big crowds at Lucien Sabella's Fisherman's Wharf A. Sabella's restaurant. Special menus for private parties and wedding receptions . . . When it comes to food priced below the average menu tab and served in a lavish surrounding, you'll have to travel far to beat the Lamp Post Steak House. Draw up a Captain's chair and relax over a New York steak or a quality sandwich . . . Ever hear of one man owning three restaurants and bars within 100 feet of each other? If not, then you haven't met Nick Gust, the busy proprietor of Nick's, The Moonraker, and the Al Williams' Papagayo Room. All are located on the shores of the blue Pacific at Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Featuring a different menu, but the same fantastic view of the ocean from picture windows, each restaurant enjoys a thriving business. Reservations are suggested. As if he didn't already have enough to keep him busy, the astonishing Nick Gust is actively engaged as mayor of Pacifica, a job he performs with much dedication . . . Join the "jet set" at the Blue Peacock Lounge for an evening of dancing to the Fabulous Romano Trio. The Romanos do their "thing" on Friday and Saturday from 9 p.m.

Lucien Sabella

After taking part in the recent testimonial dinner for Senator George Murphy, comedian Bob Hope sat ringside at Finocchio's, the world-famous center of female impersonators. He and his party stayed for two performances, after which he signed a flock of autographs. . . . You owe yourself a visit to Stickney's Stage Coach Room in the 520 El Camino Real Building, San Mateo, to discover again the fabled cuisine of new chef Gil Davis. Davis, no stranger to San Mateo (he's been chef at several local restaurants), has 40 years experience with great cooking. First at Antoines in New Olreans, then as a railroad chef on such crack trains as "The City of San Francisco," where he cooked for Presidents Truman and Eisenhower. Nothing is pre-cooked, says Gil. Even the vegetables are all fresh. His fourth-coming menu will feature his famed "Prawns Gilbert" and Louisiana Gumbo, as well as other renowned dishes. . . . The V.I.P. Room at Phil Lehr's Steakery in San Francisco was the scene for a high-level dinner meeting held by Western Canning Industries Executives. Incidentally, Lehr's elegant Wellington Room is available for private parties, meetings and gourmet or budget luncheons.

Bob Hope

Speaking of "great combinations:" dinner at Lew Lehr's Steak House in the Marina District of San Francisco before seeing the hit musical "Hello, Dolly!" at the Cinema 21, just around the corner. . . . Breakfast tip: Foster's Special Breakfast, which includes bacon, one egg, three buttermilk pancakes (syrup and butter) and coffee — all priced at just 99 cents. This special treat is served every day of the week, reminds Wilfred Caldwell, manager of this happy gathering place for after-church people, Senior Citizens, businessmen and shoppers. . . . Pizza king Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's Italian restaurant, wants to emphasize the fact that he is also known throughout Northern California for his superb Italian dinners. Don't argue for a second that he serves one of the finest full course scaloppini dinners anywhere. . . . Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto at Fisherman's Wharf has an outstanding menu of seafood specialties — many of them coming from the award-winning recipes of head chef Art Davis.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Nadine Jansen Trio Executive House Hit

The Nadine Jansen Trio is packin' the intimate dining-lounge of the new Executive House Thunderbolt in Millbrae, Tuesday through Saturday nights. Nadine's jazz interpretations on the piano, while accompanying herself on the trumpet, are backed by Danny Shannon on bass guitar and Reed Curry, the "Gene Krupa of the Thunderbolt," at the drums . . . The orchestra at the Balkan Village boasts some of the finest artists of Greece. George Georgiadis is the talented accordionist, Kostas Kaplanis is famous as a bouzouki virtuoso, Andreas Triplis on guitar and vocals and Stan Flores, drummer, are also outstanding musicians . . . Drop into the Domino Club after work and enjoy a cocktail along with any one of 30 hors d'ouevres served complimentary by Owner Larry Geraldi. Larry has selected beautiful young girls to bear the trays, and this alone is worth the effort . . . There's a great show going on every day at Bruno's in San Francisco's Mission, but there's not an actor in the cast. It's the conversation, antics, flip-overs and general-hullabaloo created by the Bruno chefs and cooks. Counter customers sit there spellbound.

Nadine Jansen

While Mary Lou Francis and her mother, sweet Helen, "tend the store" at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City, daughter Theresa and her husband, Bud, oversee the prominent Nippersink Manor in Genoa City, Wisconsin. This American plan resort, another operation under the wing of this family, is located just 65 miles from Chicago. If you're in the area while on vacation, stop in and say hello to the Urbans . . . Organist Margie Brandon has been keeping everyone dry during the past rainy evenings — she mesmerizes all the folks seated at the organbar in Baron's with her songs — thereby, no one leaves to go out in the rain. "Little Miss Happiness," as Margie is affectionately known, believes in keeping people off the street and out of trouble . . . Many raves about the variety menu and take-out service at Vince Licata's Italian and Seafood restaurant. Although everyone must know by now, I'd still like to remind you that Vince's has one of the nicest cocktail lounges in San Mateo. Hot and cold hors d'oeuvres are also served in this cozy, comfortable room from 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. nightly.

MORE DALY CITY FIREMEN rumored to be leaving soon. To date the fire department's rolls have dropped by eight names. And if two higherups in the department don't start driving those little red cars around in accordance with the traffic laws and road conduct, there might be that many more vacancies. We're starting to have a little trouble counting on our fingers how many accidents one of these men has had in recent years.

WHAT'S GOING ON in this county? Judging by the stories coming out of that last council of mayors dinner, the SOUTH county is now starting to beat the drum for supervisors elected on a district basis. We thought (for the past few years) only Daly City's mayor Bud Lycett favored scrapping the at-large system. Just goes to show, you learn something new every day. Someone better get ahold of Chicken Little and tell him the sky IS falling.

WHY NOT DEPT.—Why not plant a policeman on South Mayfair Avenue (D.C.) between Park Plaza and Poncetta to nab a few of those speeders? Supposed to be 25 m.p.h. but who can read the signs? They are cleverly hidden behind a pine tree half way down the street . . . Why not forbid parking on the east side of Junipero Serra Boulevard near the Westlake off-ramp before someone piles into a parked car . . . Why not figure out someway to keep people and paperboys from using those shopping carts and leaving them strewn along every road in the community.

THE EXPERTS ARE RIGHT — Use caution when you handle electricity or you can suffer a staggering shock. Perhaps that's why the County Supervisors have tossed back into the laps of the city councils the rather touchy subject of amending the county electrical code to permit the use of what they call "nonmetallic sheathed" wiring, or "Romex" cable. Even though each city may amend its code as it sees fit, the supervisors normally set the pace by adopting or rejecting certain things. Not in this case. Thanks to the lack of a guideline Peninsula cities are running around on the electrical question helter-skelter. Some cities are okaying the Romex, while others are rejecting it (the latter has a definite edge). What happens to the poor builder whose property straddles city bounds?

Why McCloskey Changed Mind, Supported Veto

The Presidential veto of the HEW-Layor-OEO appropriations bill spurred tnorth San Mateo County educators, in particular, to take their concern over the loss of federal assistance to legislators, who ultimately were unable to over-ride the veto. Prior to the vote, the Laguna Salada Elementary School District superintendent, James Brien, said: "One thing is certain. The vote to over-ride the anticipated veto is the most critical decision affecting American education which will be taken at any time in the near future." Below, Congressman Paul M. (Pete) McCloskey explains his support of the veto.— Editor.

By PAUL McCLOSKEY
U.S. Congressman

I thought I would outline my reasons for voting to support the controversial Presidential veto of the H.E.W. Appropriations bill last week.

I was one of 191 Representatives to support President Nixon's veto of the $19.7 billion bill, which was $1.3 billion above the Administration's budget.

The 226 to 191 vote to override the veto was 51 votes short of the constitutionally-required two-thirds majority. One hundred fifty-six Republicans voted to sustain the veto; 27 were opposed. On the Democrat side, 199 voted to override the President; 27, mostly Southerners, voted to sustain the veto.

This vote was one of the most controversial in my two years in the House, and one of the very few partisan votes we have had.

A great deal of misinformation and misunderstanding was present on both sides of the issue, as evidenced in the hundreds of letters, telegrams, and telephone calls received in both my Washington office and the San Mateo office. At last count we had received 169 communications "for" and 84 "against" overriding the veto.

I had earlier voted three times for the higher figure in federal assistance for education, library and medical research assistance. My change of position was caused by several factors.

FIRST, WE ORIGINALLY voted the $1.3 last summer when we were anticipating a $3 to $4 billion budget surplus for the 1970 fiscal year, as well as a slow-down of inflation as the government's fiscal restraint policy began to work.

The Vietnam troop withdrawals had not been seriously implemented, and there was no guarantee that they would continue From my view of priorities, education and water pollution ranked well ahead of $28 billion for Vietnam and I so voted.

Subsequently, the optimistic budget and inflation estimates have proven false.

Also, the President has continued the steady withdrawal of troops, and Secretary Rogers has confirmed that this is irreversible. Congress and the President have cooperated to cut Defense spending by over $4 billion, and these cuts are continuing. Foreign aid was cut to nearly $1 billion below the President's request. And the controversial $54 million for jets for Nationalist China was finally removed.

Despite these cuts, however, other Congressional actions and inflation itself have combined to reduce the anticipated surplus to nearly zero.

ONE POINT-ONE-BILLION dollars was put into a 15 per cent, instead of 10 per cent Social Security increase, primarily because of the inflationary impact on the elderly. Another $1 billion in requested revenues was not included in the tax reform bill.

High interest on government borrowings and increased medicare, unemployment and retirement benefits added another $1.7 billion, and our increase in water pollution funds another $.6 billion.

I would have preferred to make the fight against inflation in other areas such as the SST, ABM and Vietnam. Bringing one combat infantry division home saves $1.5 billion per year, for example.

Our Congressional procedure, however, left us with only two of the 13 annual appropriation bills remaining when the President made his decision to try to stay within the $192 billion spending limit we ourselves had set back in June, 1969.

One of these bills was foreign aid where we cut nearly $1 billion below the budget; the other was HEW, where we had earlier voted $1.3 billion over the budget.

IT SHOULD ALSO BE REMEMBERED that this vote was merely one step in the legislative process. We will now have a new bill to process, and a compromise has been suggested whereby substantial education and a reasonable amount of medical research funds will be acceptable to the President.

We have been assured that H.E.W. will soon be ready to present a new and innovative program for aid to education at all levels.

Another factor influencing my vote was Senate rider tacked onto the bill last week. This amendment would have forced O.E.O. to spend more money in six specific programs and to reduce 11 others. To do so seven months into the fiscal year would have provided a classic case of government waste.

Among the programs affected by the reduction would have been Head Start and Legal Assistance, two of the best O.E.O. efforts.

The whole procedure is yet another example of the need for reform of Congress itself. There is no possible way to justify this delay of over six months in getting to final action on appropriation bills which should have been signed into law last June, before the start of the fiscal year in which the money is actually to be used.

Mid-Term Ceremonies

ABOUT THE ONLY FOLKS who hear much about it, are those directly involved with the mid-year graduation events at the local high schools.

There were 19 at Westmoor; another 39 at Jefferson.

The youngsters got their diplomas and picked up a bit of refreshments afterward, too, thanks to probably a half-dozen or more persons at each school.

The schools themselves obviously get into the act. The ones working in the background don't get much attention like Harriett O'Neil, who made the arrangements for a luncheon and the two senior counselors, Miss Barbara Schmidt and Mrs. Elda Van Note, who also assisted in the project, don't usually get even a mention.

Over at Westmoor, the P-TA is in line for credit for their assistance, along with Mrs. Jane Powell, the trustee, who handed out diplomas at the evening affair.

Mrs. Powell and Supt. Ed Morgan made both the graduations, and Trustee Elio Fontana visited his alma mater, Jeff, on the occasion.

ONE SOURCE said the Jefferson event showed the Indian campus dwellers who were involved to be "better mannered." Suppose that is to contrast an "incident" at the Ram event, where a bit of a fuss over a juke box ensued.

It's understood some of the grads wanted the music ablaring, or whatever, but an alumnus attending the event was told to disconnect the sounds, even though — as one girl put it — "It's MY graduation and I can do what I WANT!"

The collegian involved stood his ground and when it was all over told us of "ill manners" and described himself to be, "Nineteen years old and already a member of the Establishment."

AND, HEY, at the schools it's a new term — with Jefferson principal Dr. Bob Bush if not pleased at least getting rid of his ear muffs.

In contrasting opening day of the term last September with Monday, Dr. Bush noted, "It was ten times quieter today."

That was his answer to our question about the result of the students, for the first time, making their own choice of teachers and classes.

The computer programing, this term was "very clean," Dr. Bush said,

Debate Is Short-Lived

Campaign issues have changed. Once, the national dialogue concerned goals and overall direction. Today, debate is limited and short-lived. Gone is the style of the Clays, Calhouns, Websters, Lincolns, and Douglases.

Historically considered, there have been many fundamental disputes over national policy. Abolition vs. slavery, high vs. low tariffs, free silver vs. gold, strong federal government vs. states' rights. In repeated elections, these issues were a focal point for controversy.

But confrontation over major issues is not so plain today. We are more likely to find, as in the first television debate of Richard Nixon and John F. Kennedy, candidates agreeing that their goals are similar, and that the only fight is about how to attain them.

On major differences, modern candidates, office-holders and parties are apt to examine polls before taking a firm position. As a result, many possible controversies die in the making. Parties and politicians are apt to sense a new consensus quite rapidly and shift to meet public opinion as it emerges.

Examples of this kind of shift abound. Following President Nixon's November 3 address, politicians of both parties carefully awaited evidence of public opinion. This is why the President made so much of the telegrams that came to the White House. They were his preliminary proof of support while he waited for pollsters to arrive with stronger proof. The media often acts to form early support for Presidential programs. Obviously, this was not available in this case, hence his reliance on telegrams.

As the consensus developed, opposition dropped off. Even Senators Fulbright and McCarthy were hesitant to risk it all in the face of strong public support of the president.

The President's own action also illustrates the point. In the early fall, the public had again become restless about the war. There was mounting evidence that the number of people in opposition was growing.

Much has been made about the President's comments that he was ignoring the demonstrations and that he would not be influenced by people in the street. True enough. The people in the streets weren't the problem. The problem was a growing restiveness of large numbers of citizens who wouldn't even think of the street. It was this pressure of numbers that brought Richard Nixon to November 3. The result is that for the time being, at least, the war is less of an issue then it has been for many anxious months.

In an earlier day, William Jennings Bryan ran three times for the presidency and stubbornly persisted in advocacy of free silver. There can be little doubt that he would have altered his stance had modern polling techniques been available. Barry Goldwater probably really meant it when he disclaimed the validity of polls. He paid a predictable price for this indifference.

As the means of testing public opinion becomes even more reliable, disputes over national policy or goals will be short-lived. Public figures will test an issue—force public awareness and await preliminary results. Only when the battle of public opinion is close will both sides persist.

This, in turn, presents a serious problem. Politicians will want to stir up public concern with a minimum of personal commitment. In effect, they will start the wind blowing just so they can test its direction. The risk is plain: the people are often inclined to make up their minds on a basis of insufficient evidence, and clever politicians may well avoid the kind of disclosure that assures an informed public opinion.

Those concerned for our future must consider and confront this problem. There seem to be only two ways to go about it. One would be to insure adequate public debate and disclosure on important national issues before public opinion is persuasively measured. The other would be for our office-holders to function more as men of independent judgment and less as weather vanes of immmediate popular thought.

Children's TV Wonderful

SOMETHING WONDERFUL has happened to childrens' television. Something that speaks of childhood and looks towards a future free of class and race consciousness and ignorance.

At 11:30 a.m. and again at 4 p.m., a series of pictures of children burst from Channel 9, KQED. The children, so pictured, play and run and run in city parks or along placid streets until finally the scene drifts to a tenement district where adults and children sit upon dirty steps and stuffed creatures pop out of garbage cans to tell you that you have come to Sesame Street.

Sesame Street is a magic place for the two to six crowd. Through animation, with puppets as large as men, with live characters—animals as well as human—the action rushes forward with each part of the program planned to teach something: such as the meanings of words or the values of numbers.

The action runs from rank slap stick to high seriousness. All the tools of communication—music, poetry, drama, cartoons, readings — You name it, are used on Sesame Street to set the children dancing and learning.

SESAME STREET was conceived as an experiment in something called creative teaching. The creator of the award winning program states her purpose in the verse that opens each day's program.

"Come and play
Everything's A, OK . . .
Friendly neighbors there
neighbors there
That's where we meet,
Can you tell me how to get,
How to get to Sesame Street?
The sponsors ofet.
How to get to Sesame Street?

The sponsors of a given program are said to be numbers from 1 to 10 and letters from the alphabet. The concept of each number chosen for the day is illustrated by the best examples of group teaching this reporter has ever seen.

Sesame Street is a far cry from the Batman, Superman type of show, and from the "hit-em-hard, sock-em-low" Popeye type. At the same time it has more body than all the "Sergeant this, Captain that, Mr. So and So" childrens' programs put together.

AMONG THE ACTORS are children themselves —not professionals and not children in a studio—but children from the streets. The adults are professional teachers and actors who have never forgotten the world of childhood. Guest performers are celebrities acting in new roles and with new depths of performances.

Thought Provoking . . .

Among the first 30 prospects for membership on a jury to hear a marijuana case in Marine County, eight were excused because they admitted experimenting with the weed. Those rejected ranged from an architect and a housewife to a retired medical technician and a civil engineer.

Rating System, Though Thorough, Has Two Plans

By LE PACINI

ROBERT KALICH, a novelist and playwright who is a sports nut on the side, is on the verge of becoming the darling of statistics buffs. You may remember that last August we reviewed his then-new book, "The Baseball Rating Handbook," a tome in which he rated every major league player who ever trod a field by use of his own complex mathematical system. Now he's done it again, this time with "The Basketball Rating Handbook," in which he's rated all the pro basketball players who ever trod a court (including ABA players), as well as some collegians.

As was the case with the baseball book, Kalich's system is too intricate to go into thoroughly in this space, but generally what he has done is break down the actual playing performances into what he calls "categorials," in this case, 15 of them: scoring average, shooting ability and variety, offensive moves, speed and quickness, defense, defensive rebounding, play making, floor play, team value, strength and aggresiveness, consistency and efficiency, execution and experience, game pressure, foul shooting and propensity, and offensive rebounding.

For players with less than three full years of professional experience, he adds what he calls the P.P.P. Factor (Prognosticated Professional Potential). He then rates each player in each categorial on a 10 point scale, so that the "perfect" player, then, would score 150 points.

As we remarked in the review of the baseball book, while Kalich is almost unbelievably thorough and technical, his system has two basic flaws. Forgetting how one man can possibly and accurately research some of the minute details that Kalich takes on, all of this point rating is ultimately subjective, one man's opinion. The other obvious flaw is that he's put himself in the position of judging on such technicalities of players he's possibly never seen, at least in their prime.

Kalich's findings are at worst, however, a good conversation piece, and for the most part seem reasonable.

Oscar Robertson, for instance, rates the all-time highest score - a 147. He fails to get "10s" from Kalich only in speed (9), quickness (9) and defense (8).

Top forward is Elgin Baylor, with a 139. Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain tie among the pivots in points with 131, but when Kalich picks his All-Time team he gives Russell the first string slot because he says that Russell was so great on defense, under pressure and in team value, that if he could allow more than 10 points in each category, Russell would get them. In those areas, in other words, Kalich rates Russell's effectiveness unmeasureable. No other player in Kalich's ratings is accorded the honor of being "beyond 10."

Nate Thurmond is the next best rated center with 116. The other current Warriors with a high rating are Jeff Mullins, who rates 10th among contemporary backcourt men with 92 points, and Jerry Lucas, 2nd best forward.

Kalich's top three contemporary teams are:

FIRST TEAM: Center, Russell; Forwards, Baylor, Jerry Lucas; guards, Robertson, Jerry West.

SECOND TEAM: Center, Chamberlain; Forwards, Bailey Howell, Dave Debusschere; Guards, Walt Frazier, John Havlicek.

His top five All-Time NBA teams are:

FIRST TEAM: Center, Russell; Forwards, Baylor, Bob Petit; Guards, Robertson, West.

SECOND TEAM: Center, Chamberlain; Forwards, Dolph Schayes, Rick Barry; Guards, Bob Cousy, John Havlicek.

THIRD TEAM: Center, Thurmond; Forwards, Lucas, Paul Arizen; Guards, Sam Jones, Richie Guerin.

FOURTH TEAM: Center, George Mikan; Forwards, Jack Twyman, Cliff Hagan; Guards, Frazier, Earl Monroe.

Kalich also picks last year's top rookies, who are led by Elvin Hayes, and calls Rick Barry the greatest shooter of all time from the forward position and, to lend a lot of credence to his system, picks the Knicks as this season's best pro team (he wrote this far before the current season began). But then he sort of destroys one's confidence in his system by attributing to Al Attles only two points in the categoricals of "Team Value" and "Game Pressure," which any Warrior fan knows is pure bulldurm.

As we noted, Kalich also does some work on the collegians, though it's not nearly as extensive as his professional probes.

His All-Time college mythical teams are:

FIRST TEAM: Center, Lew Alcindor; Forwards, Lucas, Tom Gola; Guards, Robertson, Bill Bradley.

THIRD TEAM: Center, Alex Groza; Forwards, Petit, Sherman White; Guards, Sihugo Green, Robin Freeman.

FOURTH TEAM: Center, Hayes; Forwards, Arizin, Cazzie Russell; Guards, Guy Rodgers, Ralph Beard.

FIFTH TEAM: Center, Mikan; Forwards, Bill McGill, Ed MaCuley; Guards, Jimmy Walker, Cousy.

Kalich also ventures into picking the best 25 teams in the history of college basketball, among which are USF '55-56 (1), UCLA '67-68 (2), UCLA '59-50 (12), and UCLA '63-64 (13).

There are many, many more conversation pieces for basketball buffs in Kalich's book. Whether you agree with his system or not, it's interesting.

WE DON'T KNOW if there's any truth to those rumors that the Mets have been after a trade for Willie Mays, but if there's a smidgen of truth to them, it convinces us once and for all that the Mets were lucky to win a world's championship.

Such a deal, it seems to use, would represent faculty thinking on the Mets' part, certainly poor strategy.

Despite what some know-nothings say, Horace Stoneham is more interested in winning than in money, so he wouldn't demand money from the Mets, if he ever considered the trade, but some of that good young talent they have . . . and Mays would cost them a considerable amount of it.

About all Mays could do for the Mets at this point is draw crowds, and the Mets draw right now without Mays. In a couple of years Mays would be gone, a lot of that young talent would be gone, the Mets might again be in the cellar, and the next time—the novelty over, the heights having been experieinced — being last won't be so funny.

TAG END: Do you remember who owned the original NFL draft rights to Joe Namath? Wrong, it was the St. Louis Cardinals.

Timely Westmoor Question

Can Star's Shoes Be Filled?

One of the biggest questions hovering around Westmoor's undefeated Rams is if Tony Giammona's followers can continue to win in the second round of North Peninsula League play without starting forward Jim Lewis?

The answer Thursday was "yes," but it was hardly a true test for the title-hopeful Rams. Playing the last game of the first round against the last-place Serramonte Regents without Lewis, Westmoor won its seventh conference outing, 59-34.

In other NPL action Thursday afternoon, Jefferson continued on Westmoor's heels with a 67-44 win over Oceana; South San Francisco ran by Half Moon Bay, 93-56, and El Camino upped its previously sagging record with a 52-49 victory over slipping Terra Nova.

Lewis graduated Wednesday. The Rams have basically been a five-man team all year. Bench use has been limited. Thursday Giammona elected to allow Lewis to sit out his prep finale to see what junior forward Mike Swallow, heir-apparent to Lewis' position, could do. Swallow did well on the boards for the time he was in there, which was Lewis' forte, so the Rams may be all right after all. Maybe.

"Swallow lacks Jim's experience and physical strength," Giammona noted. "We've given him as much playing time as possible this week getting ready for the South City game next Wednesday. Only time will tell but I don't really plan many changes in our offense or defense to this point."

Junior guards Brad Quanstrom and Dave Riley again quarterbacked the Ram win but junior forward Jeff Orlich was also credited by Giammona with another excellent performance .He dominated board action while he played and scored 15 points, mostly inside.

Forward Pete Saco's jumper with 18 seconds left gave Camino a 50-49 lead and led the Colts to a 4-3 record. Center Gary Cruise added the final two free throws in the last five seconds to ice the victory but it was the consistency of Saco and guard Tom Buckley that spelled the Sharks' doom.

Buckley got eight in the final period to keep Camino either close or just slightly ahead while Dave Reynolds and Ron Nalley led the Tigers.

Forward Jim Housman led an early Warrior surge with excellent inside shooting against the taller Cougars as the new-look SSF five got back on the winning side with a win over HMB. Warrior Coach Bill Purcell opened his smallest lineup yet, and that's going some, with the average height being 5-10. (5-10?) Housman got 14 quick points, ended up with 16, but newly installed Mike Young led the parade with 20.

Larry Gunning was the Cougar bomber with 24 but lack of defense inside against Housman and Young proved fatal. In fact, the only sour note for SSF was the inexcusable performance by the previously well-mannered cheer-leaders who lambasted HMB with countless poor taste jeers.

Jefferson's Pinky Smith got 33 points again, the fourth time in seven games he's attained that exact figure, as Jeff put the clamps on Oceana in the second half for the road win.

Smith got almost half his squad's field goals, 13 of the 27, and completely dominated the rebounding phase of the game. Forward Dale Conway arched his way to 13 points with long bombs while Steve Pointer led the losers with 15.

Last Tuesday Westmoor's Rams defeated Half Moon Bay, 79-53, while Jefferson downed South San Francisco, 85-6 while Serramonte's Regents were bombed out of the gym, 63-35, against El Camino High of South San Francisco.

Second place Jefferson High downed visiting South San Francisco, 85-69, in a run-and-shoot defenseless exhibition while Oceana upset Terra Nova, 61-50, in the conference's other game.

Westmoor shot right ahead by as much as 18 points in the first period and never had a problem after that. Employing a zone defense that clamped the Cougars' leading scorer, Larry Gunning, in the important opening frames, the Rams blasted forth by as many as 29 points before intermission.

Brad Quanstrom and Dave Riley, Giammona's two junior guards who will make the Rams contenders again next season, combined for 38 points playing only about half the game.

Maintaining a 10-point lead most of the final three quarters before a leaky SSF press allowed the larger final bulge, Jefferson took the win with a strong rebound and offensive-tipping game from center Pinky Smith. The 6-5 pivotman had 13 buckets, nine on second efforts as Jeff, much taller man-for-man than the Warriors, played bolleyball on the offensive boards to build up that winning margin.

The Warriors got Jeff where they wanted — in foul trouble — by halftime but a strong bench job by sub-junior forward Craig Conway, with five field goals, kept the Indians' momentum going in that ragged second half.

The Warriors, who are receiving no punch at all from two of their three frontmen, should have a new starter ready by tomorrow in Mike Young. The junior forward came off the bench again with another excellent point-output and floor play game as he totaled 20 points in little over one half. Forward Jim Housman was again superb getting 23 points as he defies the bigger forwards to stop his spring-legged jumpers.

Oceana was smaller, less experienced and the underdog but the Sharks came through with an impressive upset win over Terra Nova. Starting Tiger guard Bob McClure, who had four fouls beofre the halftime buzzer sounded, was held to just one field goal and center Bud Papadakis fouled out one minute into the third period.

Senior guard Steve Crocenzi topped the winners with 17 but junior performances were as impressive. Guard Ernie Ribera got 16, six in the final period to keep the Tigers at bay. Jeff Wellemeyer led the losers with 17.

Coach Gets Top Award

Bill Toomey, a former El Camino High School (South San Francisco) teacher and coach, is the winner of the James E. Sullivan Memorial Award as the greatest all-around athlete in America for 1969.

The Laguna, Calif., athlete, who won the 1968 Olympic decathlon championship and is the holder of the world record in that event, received a total of 2,160 points in the balloting by a panel of amateur sportsmen, former winners of the award, sportswriters and radio and television sportscasters.

Mike Burton of Carmichael, Calif., who has set new world records in the 1500-meter freestyle swimming event in each of the past four years, was second in the balloting.

JEFF WELLMEYER of Terra Nova (43) catches the attention of at least two Oceana cagers as they (that's Tom Harper, 45, in foreground) trace path of ball in last week's Pacifica action. (Post Photo)

Too Late?

Cap Nips Crestmoor

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Sports Writer

The congestion and stuffiness in the middle of the Mid-Peninsula League standings is rivaled only by sweaty locker rooms. Three teams, including Thursday's latest entry, Capuchino, are choking off each others' air supply with the apparent results being a title for Hillsdale.

The middle-of-the-roaders keep knocking each other off so that even at this juncture in time, the half-way point of the league season, a long win streak may prove to be a little too late.

No one is giving up hope—completely. But the set of circumstances needed to put the proper pressure on Hillsdale on the back six is pretty far-fetched.

"It will be something pretty close to a miracle if anyone is able to catch them now," admitted Capuchino's Jimmy Johnson shortly after his Mustangs had held off Crestmoor, 62-57. "All we can try and do now is win each game as it comes along and see what develops. The trouble is the rest of the league is so well balanced you never can count on winning any one game."

Such was the case last week when the Mustangs met Crestmoor on the Falcon court. With Ralph Daniels back at the helm of his unit after a three-week bout with pneumonia, the Falcons did a creditable job of staying with a squad that, on paper, is 20 points better.

Capuchino seldom trailed in the game, except very early, and demonstrated distinct superiority rebounding, especially on the offensive boards where the game was actually won. The Mustangs had countless opportunities for second, third and even fourth shots in a row over the smaller Falcons and when Johnson's followers finally did break the game open in the final period they did it in with that play.

Forward Dave Adornetto personally accounted for three follow buckets that boosted the Mustangs from a 37-32 lead to a 43-32 margin that ended the gutty Falcons hopes two minutes into the final quarter. . .

The surge partially offset a superb individual performance by center Ralph Bingham who led Crestmoor scorers with 22 and had 13 rebounds. His front-line teammate, junior Mark Spacher, ended with 11 rebounds but this pair was the only noticeable boarding combination.

Johnson got regrettable news before the game when he found out that junior forward Mark Wuertner was transferring out of the school district to Carmel. Despite being hampered by an ankle injury most of the past six weeks, Wuertner was being counted upon to resume his starting slot soon and thus deepen the bench for Cap.

Shark Mat Team Wins; Finals Next

Oceana wrestling coach Neil Laughlin put his squad's undefeated NPL record on the line Thursday against Jefferson minus four of his top grapplers.

He needn't have worried. Four men moved up from JV, and the Sharks threw a tough Jeff squad for a 34-16 loss to end the regular season with a 7-0 mark.

Oceana will host the finals tomorrow and Friday.

The Shark JV squad, weakened by the loss of four men to the varsity, nevertheless beat Jeff 38-21 to preserve its own unblemished record.

Three Sharks went the season without a loss: Bob Manio in the 127 pound class, Owen Gabbert in the unlimited and Rick Brasquez, who was tied yesterday.

Half Moon Bay swept both varsity and JV matches with South San Francisco.

Randy Starr, Kevin Netherby, Doug Ray and Bruce Rust all scored pins in the Cougars' 39-18 win. The Cougar JV's won in a breeze, 57-5.

"WE MAY HAVE LOST THE WAR BUT we are going to try and win the battle."

This somewhat re-positioned Battle of New Orleans quote came from San Carlos basketball coach Dan Silva this past week when he was informed that his protest of the San Carlos-Cubberley basketball game was being turned down by league commissioner Paul Hannig and the South Peninsula League protest committee.

The whole mess took place in the fourth quarter of that game when it was alleged that, in a two-shot foul situation combined with a technical foul attempt, the wrong shooter took the shots at the wrong time for Cubberley and did so "with knowing intent," according to Silva.

As a quick recap — San Carlos' Kirk Steinseifer fouled Gary Morton. SC's Cliff Holland displayed a bad attitude on the call and was slapped with a technical. Hans Delannoy (who was 13 for 13 from the line for a new SPAL free throw record) stepped up to shoot what apparently was the technical, as he wasn't the player fouled. He shot twice in the confusion. One ref then admitted his mistake and started to award a technical shot. The other stepped in and decided to give the correct player two shots for the foul, give a third shot for the technical and award the ball out of bounds to Cubberley.

Cubberley's lead quickly jumped from two points to six. Silva protested the intent of the Cubberley player who, he claims, "had to know there was an error when he was awarded another shot the first time. But the protest ruling stated that the refs made the correct decision and it was denied.

"His action proved his intention and therefore, according to the basketball rule book, a player shall be assessed with a technical shot if he knowingly attempts a free throw to which he is not entitled," Silva added. "Hannig asked a veteran college official for his interpretation but did not ask both officials for written statements, nor did he confer with either of the two bench officials, the timer and scorer, nor did he give the entire background to the official who made the interpretation.

"I later conferred with that same official, gave him the complete story and he agreed with me that the unsportsmanlike rule had been violated," the Don coach continued. "But Hannig sent his decision to the protest committee that the complaint be denied and it was.

"I am going to write to the editor of the basketball rule book back east for a further explanation," he added. "The decision to disallow the protest was made too quickly, without complete investigation or explanation. Even the college ref agreed he had only ventured an opinion, not a verdict.

"I wonder why, too, that a league commissioner should give a voluntary opinion on his feelings to the protest board? Isn't it the board's job to make a decision?"

Hannig explained that he had consulted "10 or more of our own officials in the area before making a report to the committee. Then I sent the college official's opinion plus what I had gathered, plus the letter from San Carlos and all the other information from the incident to the board for a decision.

"They turned it down and the board's decision is final!" Apparently Silva does not agree.

CRESTMOOR BASEBALL COACH Terry Christman, who just took over the varsity job for the Falcons this year, has been assigned to coach the New York Met rookies in Marion, Indiana, this summer.

The 25-year-old Christman, who signed out of San Francisco State in his junior year as a pitcher and played Triple-A ball both on the mound and at first base, will be given the job of whipping recently signed college and high school players into shape and conducting a two-month-long season for the parent Mets.

"This is strictly a summer job for me," Christman said. "I have no plans to quit teaching at Crestmoor at all. But this summer assignment is a great honor, in my opinion, because it made me think that someone up in the front office liked me enough to remember me when the job opening came."

Although most of the Met rookies are assigned to Pompano Beach, Florida, Christman expects to have a few teen-agers under his control.

"Most of the players will be about 20 or 21 years of age," he added. "You can be considered a rookie to play in these rookie leagues as long as you haven't played in more than 90 professional games. Some players on the team might be there for their second season in that case."

Spring training for that squad starts on June 15 and competition begins on June 26 and runs through August 25.

"I was given the option of going back again to play for the Mets or take over this team" the left-handed ex-college star explained. "I saw a few more opportunities in the managing area because I feel that I would have to have a super year to make the big leagues. I really don't want to spend the rest of my baseball days playing in just the minors, even though it might be Triple-A competition. I'm extremely pleased and satisfied."

BOWLING

League bowlers at Serra and Westlake Bowls are competing in the annual California Bowlers Victory Legion "Shoot for the Stars" tourney.

The BVL, at one buck a throw, concludes shortly with finals on February 15 at Westlake Bowl for the San Francisco area. A full 30 per cent of the bowlers entering qualify for the finals and the winners to on to Stockton and the state championships.

Last year California led the nation in BVL play with $86,000 raised to aid disabled and hospitalized veterans.

On the junior scene, Marc Malaspina hit the lanes in high style at Serra Bowl while Wayne Chester was tearing up Westlake Bowl's pine.

Malaspina, 14, shot a 635 series with a 226 high game and is currently carrying a 211 composite tournament average.

Chester, the nation's leading junior bowler who is aiming for the pro tour, racked up a 684 series and then came back the next day for a 621 series.

In the gals scene, Beverly Cronin is looking for more Blue Chip stamps after rolling 100 pins over her series average with a 545 series at Serra Bowl.

The professional baby sitter has furnished herself with a stereo, watch, home shop, bowling balls and bags through the Blue Chip leagues.

Serra Bowl's Pete Casias shot a sizzling 725 series to top the men and Vickie Pemberton of Sea Bowl tallied 707 for the gals during the finals Sunday of the 12th annual League Officers Singles Classic.

The tournament drew over 700—largest in its history—bowlers to Serra Bowl over two weekends.

Herb Reyos, a Downtown Bowl league officer, was runner-up with 710 and Rex Golobic shot a 704 for third place among the men. Golobic is the proprietor of Serra Bowl.

In the women's competition, Serra Bowl's Bev Cassidy and Helga Brandt were beihnd Miss Pemberton.

Serra High Pads Dumped By Riordan

By PETE BARSOCCHINI
Post Correspondent

Although Frank Nolan's Serra Padres put forth a very gutty effort against Riordan last night, the end result seemed ominously inevitable.

The Pads were dumped by West Catholic Athletic League leading Riordan, 64-56.

The San Mateo cagers were unable to hit their shots in key situation, and they were in foul trouble for nearly the entire game. The Crusaders, who are now 6-1 in WCAL play, exhibited a great deal of poise in holding off the determined Padre effort and their standout 6-10 center, Kevin Restani, was at his best.

In other games Thursday night, St. Ignatius squeaked past Bellarmine, 68-63, and St. Francis whipped Sacred Heart, 55-54.

Serra was also hurt greatly from the foul line where the Crusaders had a field day. Riordan hit on 17-21 foul attempts in the first half alone and had 26 total charity points.

"We've been beaten in free throw percentage in every one of our league games this season," lamented Padre Coach Nolan. "This has really hurt us." Otherwise, it wasn't a bad effort on our part."

Serra opened the game with a full court man-to-man press which harassed the stable Crusaders greatly. Padre guard John Crosby, who Nolan feels is the key to the Serra offense, had a red hot first quarter missing only one shot and hitting for ten points to give the Pads a 20-19 edge.

But with the start second period there came a seemingly endless stream of Crusader free throws which not only bolstered Riordan's score, but also slowed the tempo of the game to a near halt. Restani hit with consistency throughout the half to pace Riordan to their 39-31 halftime advantage.

Skyline College Musical Program; Classes Announced

Two distinguished members of the Bay Area concert scene, Dr. Denis de Coteau and pianist Marsha Mikulak, and the college community orchestra will present the first of a two-part musical program, February 8, at 3 p.m. in the Skyline College main theater.

The concert series is under the sponsorship of the S.C. Community Education program with tickets for the two concerts (the second concert is scheduled for April 26) is $2; single performance adults, $1.25 and students and children, 50 cents.

Dr. de Coteau currently is the conductor of the orchestra at California State College at Hayward as well as an associate professor of music at the East Bay institution. However, he is no newcomer to the San Mateo County music scene having been conductor of the College of San Mateo Community Orchestra for the past two years. Recently he won the Pierre Monteux conducting award.

In recent years he was associate professor of music and conductor of the orchestra at Grinnell College, Iowa; is conductor of the El Camino Youth Symphony Orchestra and associate conductor of the San Francisco Chamber Orchestra; has served as conductor of the San Francisco Youth Baroque Orchestra, associate conductor of the Stanford University Orchestra and Brooklyn Chamber Orchestra; and has appeared as guest conductor of orchestras in New York, New Mexico, Iowa, and California.

Originally from Sacramento Marsha Mikulak, the guest soloist at the forthcoming concert, has been appearing in numerous local guest appearances during the past year. They include the Music Teachers' Association recital in San Mateo; two performances at the twelfth Annual Deocrator's Show House in the Tobin Clark Estate, and a recital at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music.

Miss Mikulak has been studying since the age of seven and gave her first public recital at the age of 12.

Currently she is studying with Thomas LaRatta at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music as a scholarship student and is in the process of completing her final year in the Bachelor of Music degree program. Miss Mikulak plans to pursue a Master's degree in the field of performance.

The concert program will feaure three well-known and masterful works. They are: Overture to "Der Freischutz" by Carl Maria von Weber; Piano Concerto in A minor by Robert Schumann; Symphony No. 101 ("The Clock") by Joseph Haydn.

The spring semester is expected to see the continued development and growth of Skyline College's Minority Students Program under the direction of Mel Carrillo, assistant to the president for minority programs.

"Skyline College's programs toward equalizing educational opportunity for minority students is well on its way to fruition come Fall 1970 as originally planned," Carrillo noted.

The college already has a permanent minority committee made up of students, faculty, and administration members; a volunteer tutor system for students needing assistance in their classes has been organized; and proposals for various funding programs currently are being written for future presentation.

Starting with the spring term a Minority Service Center will be established in Building 8 (Academic) Room 578, and will be staffed by representatives from all minority groups on campus, committee members, and interested faculty members. This center will involve volunteer tutorial assistants; dispense information regarding academic, financial and legal aid; and seek special faculty counseling where needed for minority students.

Carrillo stated that the work of North San Mateo County's two Economic Opportunity Centers have been of importance and valuable assistance to the college and to minority students. They are located at Daly City Information Center, 6634 Mission Street, Daly City, phone No. 992-9414 and South San Francisco Information Center, 224 Lux Avenue, South San Francisco, phone 873-0123.

Financial aid from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare for Skyline College also has been part of the college's efforts under Carrillo's leadership.

"We are optimistic about the possibilities of receiving federally financed programs such as Educational Opportunity grants, National Student Defense Loans, and Work Study Funds based upon our proposals and discussions," Carrillo said.

He also emphasized that this past semester's activities were just the beginning and that his office will be in more extensive contact with schools, community centers, community and business groups, church and student organizations in behalf of minority students at Skyline College.

"We are anxious and welcome the opportunity to talk before interested organizations about Skyline College's current and future plans as they concern our minority students," Carrillo stated.

The SC minorities program leader declared that Skyline College like her sister institutions College of San Mateo and Canada College are vitally interested in helping those students who plan a career education or post-communit college education program.

"It must be remembered that we accept any high school graduate from our county and any resident, even if he did not complete his high school education, who is over 18 years old. Therefore, it is never too late to enroll in our classes and take advantage of this educational opportunity. We hope that minority students will contact us for guidance and assistance," Carrillo pointed out.

"Popular," bests describes Skyline College's evening program in foreign languages. Based on this growing demand, David P. Marin, director of the evening college, announced that there will be two sections of French and Spanish this coming spring semester.

"We are happy over the response in these two areas and will continue to add sections as the various programs grow," Marin declared.

French 100a-100b, Conversational French, Elementary; Advanced Elementary — 2 units each) will be offered on Monday, 6:30-9:30 p.m.; section one in Building 7, Room 417 and Section two in Building 7, Room 411.

Spanish 100a-100b, Conversational Spanish, Elementary; Advanced Elementary (2 units each) will be offered Wednesday, 6:30-9:30 p.m.; section one in Bldg. 7, Room 411 and Section 2 in Bldg. 7, Room 417.

Marin also stated that Business 87 (Real Estate 87) not listed in the catalog, will be offered this spring term.

Classroom's Installation Is Questioned

Why shouldn't the South San Francisco School District have to obtain use permits for installation of portable classroom units? ask the city's planning commissioners.

This question has been put to City Attorney John Noonan by City Planner Dan Pass at the request of the commissioners.

Seems the school district simply takes it upon itself to move portables anywhere withing the district, according to Pass. "The commissioners feel they should come in and get a permit just like anyone else," said Pass.

He added that "some of these buildings have a total adverse affect on the surrounding environment."

During their Monday night session commissioners also assured Westborough homeowners that signs will be kept at a minimum in the residential area.

They approved a request for establishment of a tavern at the northeast corner of Westborough and Gellert Boulevards in the Westborough Square Shopping Center. The request was made by Ted Connolly of Oakland.

Also approved were use permit and variance requests of Joseph H. Stamatis, of 269 Avalon Drive, to construct a two-story, three-unit apartment at 656 Commercial Avenue.

The third approval, for a use permit to build the Orange Memorial Park swimming pool at the southwest corner of West Orange Avenue and Tennis Drive, had one dissenting vote.

Commissioner Mario Raffaelli again contended that use of this site would deprive the city valuable "green" area. The swimming pool hole, incidentally, already has been dug.

NELL NORTON

(Sugar 'n Spice)

Good morning, good cooks.

I met a friend in the market recently and she asked if I could print some recipes for desserts that don't use eggs. In our cholesterol conscious age eggless recipes have a universal appeal and I'm grateful to her for suggesting this week's column.

By a happy coincidence, I had just finished making some eggless cookies that had passed the taste test with flying colors. A short, tasty cookie that's easy to make always sounds good doesn't it?

The recipe I was testing came from a cookbook put out by St. Perpetua's Church in Lafayette. When I gathered together the ingredients I found the same recipe on the cornstarch box. So it came to me with a double recommendation and it comes to you with a triple recommendation.

JELLY COOKIES

½ cup cornstarch
½ cup confectioners sugar
1 cup flour
¾ cup margarine
(Bake in 300-degree oven for 20 minutes)

In a mixing bowl sift together the half-cup each cornstarch and confectioners sugar and the cup flour. Blend in the three-fourths cup margarine with a spoon, mixing until the dough is smooth and soft. Cover and chill for one hour.

Shape into one-inch balls. Place about 1½-inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Flatten with lightly floured fork. Place thumbprint in center. Fill print with jelly. Bake in 300-degree oven for 20 minutes. Makes about three dozen cookies.

VARIETIES: You may bake the cookies first and then add the jelly or jam. Roll balls in chopped nuts before baking.

THIS NEXT RECIPE is for a rich fruit-type cake that has long been a favorite in my family. Frankly I've made it for years without considering the fact that it's eggless. It's delicious flavor and the simple way it's made is what appealed to me. I hope it appeals to you good cooks too.

ALASKA MINCEMEAT CAKE

1 package dried mincemeat
2 cups water
1¾ cup sugar
¾ cup shortening

Place the dry mincemeat, broken in pieces, in a large saucepan; add the two cups water, one and three-fourths cups sugar and three-fourths cup shortening. Bring to a rolling boil. boil three minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and cool.

3¾ cups flour
2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped nuts
(Bake in 375-degree oven 60 to 70 minutes)

Sift together the three and one-fourth cups flour, two teaspoons soda and one teaspoon salt. Add to the cold mincemeat mixture, blend well. Stir in the half cup chopped nuts.

Grease and flour the bottom only of a 9-inch tube pan. (I also placed one layer of waxed paper on bottom to insure against sticking. But then I'm a cautious type.) Pour the cake batter into pan and bake in 375-degree oven 60 to 70 minutes.

Cool in pan about one hour before turning out. Cool thoroughly (about six hours) and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar before serving.

NOTE: If you have a 10-inch tube pan bake in 375-degree oven for 55 to 65 minutes.

DID I HEAR YOU say you're tired of baking? OK. How about chilling a dessert for tonight?

STRAWBERRY DREAM

1 pkg. strawberry gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 pkg. frozen strawberries
2 bananas, sliced
1 pkg. vanilla Whip 'n' Chill

Prepare the package gelatin using one cup hot water. Substitute the package frozen strawberries for the cold water. Stir gently until the strawberries are thawed and the gelatin is beginning to thicken. Add the two sliced bananas and pour into an 8-inch square pan. (Be sure to have the gelatin cover the bananas so they won't darken as the gelatin sets.)

Refrigerate until completely set, about 45 minutes. Prepare the vanilla pudding as directed. Spread over the gelatin and refrigerate for one more hour.

Serves 6 generously.

WE GAVE THE OVEN a rest, now let's put it back to work. These eggless cookies won a prize in the Bake-Off last year. I found the shape most interesting, they look like round pretzels.

NUTTY COOKIE RINGS

1 cup margarine, softened
½ cup sugar
2 cups all-purpose flour
3 Tablespoons orange-flavored gelatin
1 cup chopped salted peanuts
(Bake in 350-degree oven 8 to 12 minutes)

In a large mixing bowl cream the one cup margarine and the half-cup sugar. Blend in the two cups flour, the three tablespoons orange flavored gelatin and the cup chopped salted nuts. If necessary, chill the dough one hour.

Shape by spoonsful into strips about the thickness of a pencil and 5-inches long. Shape into rings and place on an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in 350-degree oven 8 to 12 minutes or until slightly browned. Cool on cookie sheet about 2 minutes; remove. Makes 30 cookies.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

Hair is the most talked about 'thing' today. It is the name of a controversial play. The long, matted and often greasy hair of the hippies is constantly discussed. Falls, postiches, wigs and toupees are top market items for both sexes.

The solution to male baldness has been solved in many advertisements. The results have not been too successful. The relatively new method that has received much advertising and publicity is "hair weaving." Many men prefer "hair weaving" because the head covering is essentially attached to the person's own hair. The client must have some natural growth of hair to which the matching hair can be added. The natural hair growth is used in the woven or braided base sections and enforced with nylon thread to which hanks of matching hair are sewn of "wefted."

The woven hair can be groomed, managed and cleaned to some extent as one would care for one's natural hair. However, such hair sewing or weaving remains a temporary thing and not a permanent measure for concealing partial baldness. The natural hair, as it grows out, requires periodic adjustments and the added hair must be appropriately modified.

The National Better Business Bureau objects to much of the advertising and publicity that has been given to this relatively new method of solving male baldness.

It objects to the media claims that asingle fittingwill provide a man with a "full head of hair." National Better Business Bureau also objects to the claim that the procedure affords permanent hair covering in the same manner as hair transplants. Finally, another objection is to the absence of the necessity to go in several times a year for an adjustment.

There has been one reported instance of injury related to alleged allergic reaction but medical authorities state there have been no complications despite the tight anchoring required. The cosmetic result still depends upon the initial problem and the skill of the practitioner.

Customer complaints have been that they have had to return for additional work more often than they had anticipated. Others have experienced some discomfort and others were disappointed in the final appearance.

PLEIKU, Vietnam Dec. 18 — Thomas J. Pritchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Pritchard, 53 Pueblo Street, Daly City, was promoted November 29 to Army sergeant, while assigned to the 4th Infantry Division near Pleiku, Vietnam.

LARRY B. MOBLEY of San Bruno, has been elected president of Ethan Allen West, Inc. Mobley, a former airline executive in San Francisco, will make his headquarters in Ethan Allen's new offices at Fifth and El Camino Real in San Mateo. The company, affiliated with Ethan Allen Personnel Placement of New York, has offices across the country. An office was opened in October in San Jose and their newest office opened in San Mateo in the First Federal Savings Building, Fifth and El Camino, on February 2.

Business English Classes Hear Variety Of Speakers

By SHARON HYMAN
Serramonte High

Business English classes at Serramonte High School have been treated to an on-going program of speakers from the business community.

Following on the heels of a Standard Oil of California personnel representative who discussed job possibilities in a corporation level, Don Bevilacqua of the Daly City Mobil Station, 30001 Junipero Serra Blvd., discussed his business activities.

How to secure a franchise and develop a good local business clientele on the local level was part of Bevilacqua's discussion. He also talked about the roles for women in the service station field.

Speakers before the Serramonte Business English classes, taught by Mrs. Diane Streeter and Don Patterson, have included representatives from certified temporary personnel; Samuel Chandler of the Daly City Public Library; a Junior Achievement representative, and Estrilleta Boone of International Business Machines.

Since Serramonte is a new school, visitors come from throughout the United States to see it.

Some people may want modular scheduling for their school, while others may like the way the school is built.

Serramonte has seven girls to guide these visitors around: Elaine Ching, Sharon Hyman, Jill Leibowitz, Sylvia Howard, Rosalyn Pack, Karen Lever, and Patty de Katieta.

History Contest

The annual history contest at Southwood Junior High School started the eighth grade students have been asked to write an essay on the "Changing Patterns of Freedom and Controls in United States History."

Criteria For The Miss Industrial City Event

The Miss Industrial City pageant directors have announced their criteria for choosing a "beauty queen."

The pageant winner is no longer simply a pretty face or statuesque figure.

Miss Industrial City must possess a glowing personality and display warmth and friendliness towards others so that during her duties as a representative city winner she may greet her public and be a striking image of grace and femininity.

In the Miss America Pageant, the goal of all contestants, the judges rank talent as 50 per cent of total possible points. Evening gowns count 25 per cent of the points. The swim suit competition and personal interview count the remaining 25 per cent.

Investigation Of Plant Fire

South San Francisco firemen are investigating an 11 a.m. blaze that caused an estimated $5,000 damage at the Kransco Manufacturing Company plant at 40 5Victory Avenue last Tuesday.

Sixteen firemen were at the scene for nearly two hours fighting the fire that was centered in styrofoam used by the firm to produce a number of products, a fire department spokesman explained.

Firemen said the sprinkler system was set off "and did a whole lot to contain it."

Television In Classrooms Increases In S.M. County

Classrooms telecasts for thousands of school children in San Mateo County began last week over the College of San Mateo station, KCSM-TV (Channel 14).

TV lessons will augment the teachers' instruction for classes ranging from kindergarten to the eighth grade in the following districts, according to college officials: Belmont, Laguna Salada, Redwood City, San Carlos, San Mateo and South San Francisco.

The new service was developed through the San Mateo County Superintendents Association, headed this year by Dr. Lowell K. Brubaker, superintendent of Cabrillo Unified District.

"We are delighted to have this opportunity to extend the educational reach of KCSM-TV," said Chancellor Clifford G. Erickson of San Mateo Junior College District. "Significantly, the launching of these programs comes just a week before another new KCSM-TV venture—the cooperative use of the station by seven Bay Area junior colleges for televised offering of college-level credit courses to the residents of their areas.

"It is our intention to continue the further development of the station along these and other educational lines in the future, so that it can be of maximum use throughout San Mateo County and, in cooperatively financed projects, the entire Bay Area."

Broadcasts are scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. every school day. They originate at KTEH (Channel 54), the Santa Clara County Office of Education station, and are retransmitted by KCSM-TV under an agreement with the San Mateo County Superintendent of Schools Office.

The college is reimbursed for broadcast costs by the county schools office from funds contributed by participating districts.

Programs include:

In language arts—"Tell Me a Story," "Magic of Words," "Cover to Cover," "The Wordsmith" and "A Matter of Fiction."

In social studies—"Our Changing Community," "Geography," "Cultural Understanding" and "Places in the News."

In science and health—"Just Wondering," "All About You," "Land and Sea," "Let's Investigate," "The World of Change," "Physical Science I," and "Intermediate Health."

In music and art—"Stepping Into Rhythm," "Stepping Into Melody," "Sing Along With Me," "Art About Us," "Time for Art," and "Meet the Arts."

Seven Westmoor Students Enter Speech Tourney, Competition Is Statewide

Miss Mary Ann Holden, Westmoor High Speech instructor and Forensic Club adviser, will lead seven Westmoor students to Torrance California's junior college to compete in a statewide speech tourney, February 6-7.

Composing the Westmoor delegation are speakers Pete Seagrave, Jeff Harris, Dan Kunst, John Bennett, Chris Dethlefsen, Rich Adams, and Michael Lucchesi. The forensics troop will depart from the Ram campus, Wednesday morning February 4, and travel via station wagon down the sunny California coast to their southbound destination.

The Westmoorites will compete in a wide range of categories including: Seagrave and Harris, debate; Dethlefsen, Kunst, and Adams, dramatic interpretation; Lucchesi, estemporaneous; and Bennett, original oratory.

Seagrave and Harris will debate the nationwide topic, "That Congress should prohibit unilateral U.S. Military Intervention in Foreign Countries."

Dan Kunst qualified for the Godlen West Speech Association's finals competition to be held in April, January 24. He earned a finals slot, when he presented an oratorical interpretation concerning the Vietnam crisis, at Antioch High School.

A week eariler, four-year speech veteran, John Bennett, qualified in an original oratory presentation about the American Indian.

Last year at this time Westmoor's delegation competed at El Camino High School in Claremont, near Los Angeles. Miss Holden explains the scheduling change, "The Torrance tournament is better suited to our circumstances, since we're only bringing down seven speakers while some schools are represented by over 20 speakers." She adds, "at Torrance there is a wide range of events and the competition is run by a high school coach."

Approximately 100 schools will participate in the competition, representing the entire California area. Entrants placing first through fourth, receive trophies, and other placers earn certificates. Each speaker will present nine separate speeches, as all entrants compete in the contest's nine rounds — "giving them valuable educational experience," comments Miss Holden.

Aside from competing in the two forsensics affairs; the seven students and adviser will tour both the U.C.L.A. and Santa Monica J. C. Campuses. After the rigorous competition on Saturday, the Bay Area visitors will stay at the Disneyland Hotel that evening and enjoy the world-famed amusement park on Sunday before driving back ofr Monday morning classes.

Openings Helped Keep Walgreen's Earnings Down

Walgreen Co. rang up record sales for its first fiscal quarter ended December 31, reported C. R. Walgreen, Jr., chairman of the board.

The nation's largest retail drug chain reported sales of $210,955,739, up 10.2 per cent over the first quarter a year ago when sales were $191,346,259.

Earnings were $4,186,805, down slightly from 1969's $4,272,552. Earnings per share in the first quarter were 66 cents, down 1 cent from the previous comparable quarter.

A major contributing factor affecting earnings was the cost of opening and launching new stores. The company opened 17 new units in the first 1970 quarter, substantially more than the 11 openings of the previous quarter.
